THE SAFETY PIN

FOR GENTLEMEN'S COLLARS AND TIES.

AN EVOLUTION OF THE ORDINARY HOUSEHOLD PIN.

Bronze pins have been found in the lake-dwellings of Switzerland, whilst others have been discovered in Egypt with gold or amber heads. The pin head apparently always presented a difficulty and sometimes consisted of a loose ring passed through the eye. Specimens of Safety pins of a pre-historic period have also been found, proving that even this form of fastening is no novelty.

The importation of pins into England was strictly forbidden in 1483, but Queen Catherine (of Aragon) received her supplies from France. They were then expensive luxuries and with the ladies of this period "Pin money" (hence the term of the present day) was a consideration.

An Act of 1543 prohibited the sale of pins unless "double headed" or with "heads fast soldered to the shank." France held the trade until 1626, when Tilsby introduced the manufacture into Stroud in Gloucestershire. The trade spread to London, Bristol and Birmingham in 1636, but it was not until 1817 a machine was patented for making the head, shaft and point in one piece.

The weekly output of pins, principally made in Birmingham, is computed at 500,000,000 :

With the ordinary pin, we have but little to do, but we can show you in a variety of designs and values. We have dozens of London-made, Strong Safety Pins, of 15 carat and 18 carat gold from which to select. Round wire half round-topped; flat-topped; Platinum-topped; set with pearls or enamelled with jointed or spring hinges.

GOLD SAFETY PINS

WHISKY NOGGIN.

WE SELL this miniature whisky jug mounted in Silver. It holds just one gill and is cleaner and more elegant in use than the pegmeasure of the refreshment bar type. As each guest is served with one for his exclusive own it becomes unnecessary to urge the importunate question of quantity. The noggin is a silent and some like suggestion of "just help yourself," while the obtrusive "half or full peg Sir?" sounds too business like.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS:—Are you broken in your rest by a sick child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth? Go at once to a chemist and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to taste, it produces natural, quiet sleep, by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentry and diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other cases. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by Medicine dealers everywhere.

NYASALAND COTTON.

The production of cotton in the Shire highlands of Nyasaland continues to expand, over 25,000 acres being now under cultivation by Europeans employing native labour. The value of the exports nearly doubled in 1912-13 and though the industry is on a small scale compared with that of older cotton-producing countries still every thousand bales sent to England constitutes a contribution not to be despised. The difficulty which faces the planter is the shortage of labour and there is a demand for a railway from the coast to Lake Nyasa so that settlers from outside may be brought in. Fairly good prices are obtained for the cotton of first quality. The introduction of hydraulic presses into the Protectorate has generally assisted the trade, and it is hoped, says the Pioneer, that the 400lb bale, which is the official bale of the British Cotton-Growing Association, will become the standard of Nyasaland. Tea and rubber are also being cultivated, but only to a limited extent as minor crops.

Messrs. Arochas Freres, a well-known firm of Marseilles, which has been carrying on business in Pondicherry since the beginning of this year has been authorised by the Governor in Council of Pondicherry to establish a tannery on the outskirts of the town. This will be the second factory of the kind that will be opened in the settlement, there already being another one, not far away from here; and there is reason to believe that this competition is not likely to relax, owing to the increasing demand from the European markets for hides and skins.

ALLEGED INFANTICIDE.

Mr. G. F. Chalk, the Coroner, held an inquest on the body of a newly-born child, which was discovered on Friday lying tied up in a piece of canvas on an open space off Arthur Road. The Police Surgeon who held the post mortem examination, said that there were bruises and marks of compression on the front of the neck, and there were internal injuries which showed that death had been caused by strangulation. The jury gave an open verdict.

SEQUEL TO A FAMILY QUARREL.

Mr. G. F. Chalk, the Coroner, held an inquest on Saturday on the body of a Hindu woman named Gomtibai (16) the wife of a carpenter, named Ooka Nathu, residing on the fourth floor of a building at Kumbharwada.

It appeared that there was a quarrel between the deceased woman and her husband about ten days ago, and the husband beat her. He went to the next room where his father and brother were sitting. A few minutes after they heard a thud and on looking out saw the woman lying in the gully below. She was taken to the Sir J. J. Hospital where she made a statement to the effect that she had thrown herself from the window with the intent to put an end to her life. The injuries sustained were not in themselves dangerous enough to cause death, but scepticaemia (blood poisoning) set in and she died.

The jury returned a verdict of death from blood poisoning following the injuries caused by her having thrown herself from a window.

THE EXCELSIOR.

The wonderful troupe of acrobats, who are performing at the Excelsior, seem to have an inexhaustible repertoir of wonders; for this week again they have a constant succession of surprises and their programme seems to get better the longer they stay. They are more at home on a trembling slack wire than many of us are on the solid ground and the way they throw themselves about seem to indicate nerves of steel or else indestructible bodies.

The detective film "Protea," which has roused so much interest is concluded this week, and the management have arranged that for the benefit of those who did not see the first part that this will shown be half an hour before the begining of the regular show, so that those who wish to do so may see the whole film in one evening, while those who have already seen the first part can take their seats at the usual time. It is a film of extraordiury strength, one of the most notable that we have yet had in Bombay.

In addition there are, of course, the usual features, the other films including a funny story with Wiffles at his best.

DASSERA SACRIFICES.

The Shri Jiv Daya Gnan Prasarak Fund is one administered in Bombay with the object of discouraging living sacrifice. TORN CURRENC[illegible]

CHARGE AGAINST FATHER[illegible] CHILDREN.

Inspector Morris of the C. I. D. charged Maneksha Naoroji, a typist, his father, Naoroji Adarji and his sister, Shirinbai, before Mr. A. H. S. Aston, Chief Presidency Magistrate, the first, on a charge of attempt to cheat the Paper Currency Office and the other two with abetment of the same.

Mr. Vicaji F. Vicaji, with Mr. Bomansha Daruwala, appeared for the accused.

The case for the prosecution was that one Mr. Kavasji Dorabji Karanjia, residing at Mahim, presented a piece of a ten rupee note to the Currency Office about a year ago saying that it was torn by his little child and that the other portion was missing. He was asked certain questions about the note, and on his answering satisfactorily he was paid the amount. On July 23 last the first accused presented the other portion of the note and requested payment of the money for it. He said that he tore the note with some other papers, and he could obtain only that portion. He filled in the form required by the Currency Office and sent statements signed by the second and third accused to prove his claim.

The first accused said that the piece of note was given to him by his sister, Kharshed Bai, which she had had for some time. She handed it over to him asking him if he could do anything with it, and he therefore put in a claim. The other two accused said they only knew that Kharsed Bai had it and she gave it to the first accused.

The case was adjourned.

THEFT OF GOLD LINKS.

A Hindu woman named Saibai, a servant, was placed before Mr. A. H. S. Aston, Chief Presidency Magistrate, by Sub-Inspector Karnik on the charge of theft of a pair of gold links of the value of Rs. 20 belonging to Mr. K Aitken, telegraph master. The links were found to be missing on Thursday and were traced to a man to whom the links had been entrusted by the accused. The accused pleaded guilty and she was sentenced to one month's rigorous imprisonment.

Major Bray, West Riding Regiment, has been appointed Commandant of the Shanghai Volunteers. This Corps is probably the most international regiment in the world, including as it does British, French, German, Japanese, and Chinese Companies. The cap badge of the Corps shows the "Flags of all Nations" serving.

The Government of His Highness the Maharaja of Mysore has issued orders to the effect that officers in the permanent service of Government proceeding to foreign countries for purposes of study or training with the aid of a scholarship from the State or a fund managed by Government shall count the period occupied by the study or training, up to a limit of two years, as service eligible for pension. This period, though counting for pension, will not count as service for leave of any kind.

On the morning of the 1st instant an old woman, Ikaramu Nissa Begum, said to be the great-grand-daughter of the Vizier of the Nawab of the Carnatic, and aged about 75 years, was found dead in her bed in a pool of blood, in her house in Le Fleur's Road, Narasingapuram. Her servant, also an old woman, who used to sleep in the outer verandah of the house, heard a gurgling noise in the room in which her mistress was sleeping, and shortly afterwards saw a man walk out of the house. She went to wake her mistress in the morning but found her dead. The deceased is said to have been a very rich woman, and so far jewellery and cloths to the value of Rs. 500 are known to be missing.

In his annual sanitary report of the Province of Bihar and Orissa Colonel Hare, I. M. S., notices a curious fact in regard to malaria in the neighbourhood of the Chilka Lake in the Puri District. The lake is a large collection of brackish water bordered by shallow beaches and flats, many of which are thickly covered with weeds from which vast clouds of anopheline mosquitoes rise. There is an intense degree of malarial infection in the villages about the lake, and they yield a spleen-rate of no less than 87 per cent. In such conditions it might be thought, from experience gained elsewhere, that malaria would work havoc among the people. Happily, however, the disease is not of a malignant type; the mortality from it is small; and the physical development of the villagers is not affected.

At the Police Court of Matale, Ceylon, the head kangany of an estate charged three villagers with mischief in that they broke an image of the Tamil deity "Muniandy" and hurt the religious feelings of the complainant and his coolies. Dorasamy the kangany was carrying in procession images for a Tamil temple on the estate. The procession was a large one with about 150 coolies, tom toms and native music and torchlights. The accused met the procession near Uduphilla, jeered at it and threw stones which struck the image and broke it. The complainant stated that this was an unpardonable insult to their god "Muniandy" and might have led to a serious breach of the peace as he had 150 coolies with him. The witness contradicted each other seriously, and the Magistrate acquitted the accused.

Owing to the strained feelings between Hindus and Mahomedans at Rohtak six head constables and 30 constables have been sent from Simla to Rohtak to preserve the peace during the approaching Ram Lila festival, says the Civil and Military Gazette. There was a riot at Rohtak in 1889 during which it was found necessary for the police to use their fire-arms. His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor has just sanctioned an increase of one inspector, four head constables, and 48 constables to the Shahpur police force to enable a new police station to be opened at Sargodha. He has also sanctioned an addition to the Simla police of three sub-inspectors, seven head constables and 34 constables. Another increase which has been sanctioned is that of two sub-inspectors, five head constables and 48 constables to the Amritsar force where a new police station, embracing the civil lines, the cantonment and the municipal area outside the walls of the city, will shortly be opened.

An interesting little story is told in the report of the Punjab Veterinary Department regarding a mysterious outbreak of disease among goats in Kangra and Kulu. The disease was devastating the flocks of a class of people called Gaddis in Kangra, Chamba and Mandi. They called in phutka, which is a corruption of the words phatak jana and mean "initantaneous death." As a matter of fact it did not cause instantaneous death. The Chief Superintendent investigated the causes of the disease in the field and some cases were sent to the college at Lohore for investigation The disease was then proved to be a contagious pneumonia and the constant marching to which the Gaddis' flocks are subjected gave the animals very little chance of recovery. The Gaddis were at first so suspicious that they would not even divulge where the disease was prevalent, but in course of time this suspicion was overcome, and the necessity of isolation and rest for infected animals was impressed on them. These people were also instructed how to treat goats for diseased feet, a very common ailment which leads to many deaths from inanition brought on by inability to graze on the hill sides.

It's a Bad Sign

when you have that obstinate, lingering cough which will not be shaken off.

There is no cough at any stage, whether old or young, but what needs attention. A cough soon wrecks a strong constitution, soon makes one helpless, in fact a cough is a very dangerous ailment, yet many hardly notice a cough. The way to cure bronchitis and chest colds is to apply Little's Oriental Balm.

Rub it well into the chest and back. It penetrates immediately to the inflamed parts. It stops the pain and drives out the inflammation. The cough, the hoarseness, the tightness across the chest go away. Shivering, feverish flushes and difficult breathing all cease. Expectoration of mucous matter is stopped.

It cures every case where a cure is possible. It often cures when nothing else will. Can anybody afford to be without it in the house all the time.

MARKET REPORT.—

The following are the latest telegrams received here:—

WELD AND CO.—Liverpool.—Market opened quiet and steady, some hedge selling and small continental buying. Prices improved later on account of rains and crop deterioration in Texas, better demands for goods in Manchester, increased spot demand, not much hedge selling. Market eased off at the close on local operators selling and some long liquidation.

NEW YORK:—Active selling by longs and shorts, market steady at the decline on favorable cables, later declined on favorable weather reports.

DURAND TOURNAMENT.

LANCASHIRE FUSILIERS WIN THE TROPHY.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT)

SIMLA, Oct. 4.

The final of the Durand Football Tournment took place to-day at Annandale in the presence of Lord and Lady Hardinge, Lord and Lady Willington, and practically all Simla. The competing teams were the Lancashire Fusiliers and the 3rd King's Royal Rifles, the Lancashires being the favourites. A good game was anticipated, and the match was closely contested, the Lancashires just winning by a goal to nil.

The 3rd K. R. R. had bad luck in having their captain, Tuck, injured. He left the field for a while, and then the Lancashires scored be goal which won them the cup. The Lancashires were the superior team, their forwards giving an excellent exhibition of passing, and they often had chance of scoring, but McRae, the clever back of the Rifles, and Haley, the goalkeeper, were both playing a very strong game. Gambles was the pick of the Lancashire forwards, but often he got over-excited. He missed two easy chances of scoring from close range. Shortly before half time was announced Tuck left the field owing to an injured knee. The Lancashires took advantage of his absence and Sprigg, being unmarked scored with a swift shot.

Tuck did not return to the field till after the second half had commenced, and though having only one leg to kick with made many openings for his forwards. The outside left missed some chances of equalising. Once he had only the goalkeeper to beat and he passed instead of shooting. During the closing stages of the game the Rifle made a desperate effort to equalise, but though several chances came their way they were unsuccessful, and the game ended in a win for the Lancashires by one goal to nil.

After the game the teams lined up and the Viceroy presented the cups and medals to the winners and runners-up. The winners in addition to the Challenge Cup received the Simla Cup, presented by the Simla Government office and trades, and the cup presented by Sir T. R. Wynne, the last being the property of the winning team, the other being held for one year only. The members of the winning team also received silver medals and Hefferman, the captain, a silver cup. The runners up received a cup, won outright, and a bronze medal each. No speeches were made and cheers for the Viceroy and Lady Hardinge brought the tournament to a close.

Except for the unsatisfactory refereeing the tournament was a success, and Mr. Dobson, the secretary of the tournament, deserves congratulations.

BOMBAY CIVILIAN TOURNAMENT.

The new tournament, which has been arranged this season for Bombay civilian teams, and which has attracted only three entries was commenced on Saturday afternoon at the Cooperage, where the Bombay Gymkhana played the G. I. P. Railway. The Gymkhana put out a good side while the Railway who probably stronger than they have ever been before this season, and they included in their forward line an amateur international and county player.

The game was quite interesting although it was watched by less than a score of spectators. The Railway team showed more dash amongst their forwards and scored once before half-time. Play during the first half had been even. During the second half the Gymkhana had more of the game, but as usual while they were well served at back their forwards had no go in them at all. Result:—

G. I. P. Railway..... 1 goal.
Bombay Gymkhana..... nil.

The final game in this tournament will be played this afternoon, between the G. I. P. Railway and the Bombay Athletic Club.

Playing at Robert's saloon, Leeds, T. Newman made a break of 526, the highest he has ever scored in public.

Mr. T. Huskisson has been elected captain of the Old Merchant Taylors F. C. in the place of Mr. W. I. Cheesman, the old Blue and international half-back, who has proceeded to Egypt to take up a Government appointment. Mr. H. B. Hays has been re-elected hon. secretary of the club.

POONA RACES.

FIRST BIG DIVIDEND WINNER DISQUALIFIED.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

POONA, Oct. 4.

With the big meetings over and many trainers gone or going, there was a considerable falling off in the attendance at the races on Saturday, although rather a larger number than usual went from Bombay.

The racing itself provided just as many upsets as the majority of backers cared for, and one dividend, viz., that returned on Hurbia, was the second biggest of the season. There were however, many closed finishes, which lessened somewhat the rather noticeable apathy of the public. The first race provided a sensation in that The Tetrarch was disqualified after it had returned a dividend of Rs. 487 for a win. It is stated that The Tetrarch crossed Mahboob, which finished third and was placed second.

Jesoor, which had only been out twice before this season, was the next winner, German Silver, the favourite, coming in with the cows. Only seven started in the closed race, North and Topsail sharing the confidence of the public. Sholto was first away with a long lead which he retained to the bend, when Topsail and Beroll caught him. North put in a strong run rather too late to catch Topsail, who finished at a great pace. Beroll who promised well until quite late found his weight too much for him to catch either North or Topsail when it came to the final sprint.

Sweden again went out a hot favourite for the next race, but had once more to be content with a place, his owners' luck still appearing to be dead out.

The open horse-race provided a thrilling finish with little between Paul Pry and Forfeit at the final post. They ran locked together from opposite the lawn leaving the rest of the field standing. It was an extremely close thing, the judge deciding in favour of Forfeit.

Two practically unknown horses provided a close finish in the next, the sixth, race, when Hurbia secured the verdict from Biglig, the latter being favourite, doubtless because Brown was up, although neither Biglig nor Hurbia have figured in the first four this season.

The last race provided yet another close thing this time, however, for places, as Brown on Zaki Pasha, who carried a lot of money, won with ease. Maidania went out a second time in this race and was greatly fancied, but his second effort proved just too much for him.

KARACHI NOTES.

HOCKEY IN KARACHI.

DEWAR'S SHIELD TOURNAMENT.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

KARACHI, Oct. 1.

That this tournament is yearly growing in interest was shown by the fact that this year there were 12 teams entered, most of the games were very closely contested, and all were watched with keen interest. In many of the matches the teams were so equally good that it was a mere toss up who would get the extra goal, and in the final tie, in the first day's match, neither side could score; so it had to be played off a second day. The following table shows the results :—

Y M C A ...	Bye		Y M C A 3-1
Indo-Portugese ...	,,
69th R F A ...	,,		93rd R F A 4-0
93rd R F A ...	93rd R F A 12-9

94th R F A ...

In the first round the most interesting game was that between the N. W. Railway and the Gymkhana A teams. It was a great game, fast and evenly contested as the final score shows. At the start the Railway broke away and scored their first goal a rather fluky one; but during the first half the Gymkhana scored 2 goals by some very pretty play.

Upon the re-start that Gymkhana almost repeated the movement which resulted in the first goal and the Railway goalkeeper allowed a very poor shot by Captain Craig to roll over the line. At this moment it seemed almost certain that the Gymkhana were bound to win, but three goals to one against the Railway made the latter realise they were not putting the vim into the game they should. Their forwards keeping well together helped Tobin, the centre forward, to get through the Gymkhana defence and score their 2nd goal, and later on D'Cunha from a corner scored a 3rd goal. Score three all, and only a few minutes to play. The game became very exciting. It was fast and vigorous; each side striving with every ounce of strength left, but neither side could gain an advantage, and the referees had to give an extra 10 minutes each way.

In the first 10 minutes the Gymkhana started off which a rush and forced a corner. The Railway responded and also forced a corner and had the better of the play, but could not score.

After about five minutes of the second 10 minutes play Tobin manoeuvred a good position and put in a delightful shot which won the game for the Railway. The Gymkhana tried hard to equalise, but Macpherson and Brown proved too difficult to pass. At the very end it seemed as if the Railway must add to their score, but the whistle sounded with them pressing the Gymkhana backs heavily.

The only unsatisfactory feature of the game was the too frequent breach of the rule as to "sticks." Seeing how very fast the ground was it was a pity so many of the players failed to realise that there was no need for hard hitting which too often resulted in sending the ball out of bounds and so interfering with the play.

In the 2nd round there were two quite good games, viz :—Y. M. C. A vs. Indo-Portugese, and the 69th R. G. A. (Manora) v. 94th R. F. A. The first game proved one-sided, although at the commencement it looked as if there would be a repetition of the previous evening's game between the Gymkhana and North-Western Railway A teams. The Indo-Portugese were the faster side and started off with a great rush, but they exerted themselves too much and the calmer methods of the more experienced Y.M.C.A. had their effect towards the end of the second half. when the score stood at 2 goals to nil in favour of the Y.M.C.A. Seager, the Y.M.C.A. inside right played exceedingly well and had the credit of hitting both the goals for his side.

In the second half both the Y.M.C.A. backs made very bad miss-hits and D'Mello, the Indo-Portuguese inside right, rushed in and scored out of reach of the goalkeeper who could have reached the ball before D'Mello, had he come out of goal to the edge of the circle. From this moment the ball was kept in the Indo-Portuguese half for the rest of the game, and it was only through the magnificent goalkeeping of the Indo-Portuguese custodian that the Y.M.C.A. failed to score more than once during this half Booker, the Y.M.C.A. centre forward, being responsible for this goal.

In the semi-final stage the Y.M.C.A. met the 93rd R.F.A. on the Railway ground, and the North-Western Railway met the R.G.A. (Manora) on the York and Lancs. regimental ground. Both games proved exceedingly exciting, the Army team winning in each case by the odd goal.

In the match on the Railway ground the 93rd R. F. A. scored in the first half and the Y. M. C. A. in the second. Ten minutes each way extra time was played to decide the game. The 93rd scored in the first couple of minutes of the first ten minutes extra time and managed to keep the Y. M. C. A. out of the rest of the game, although the latter pressed heavily.

The game on the York and Lancs. ground was also very close although no extra time was needed. In the first five minutes of the first half the R. G. A.'s outside-right, O'Neill, scored and the Garrison began to press. The Railway centre-forward, Tobin, got possession on the half-way line and ran between the backs and scored the equalising goal Play continued up and down for awhile, and then the garrison forwards working well together got their 2nd goal. At half-time score 2 to 1 in favour of the garrison.

At the beginning of the second half the sound of the whistle was frequent for sticks, fouls, and off-sides. The game moved rapidly from one circle to the other, each side looking dangerous; at length, after some pretty play by the Railway forwards Grant and Tobin, the latter put in a fast shot which found the garrison net. Unfortunately for the Railway another shot by Tobin hit the post and rebounded. The game was immediately transferred to the Y. M. C. A. half and the Garrison's left wing hit across the field between the Y. M. C. A. backs to their goalkeeper who rushed out, and made a miss-kick. Saban, the Garrison centre-forward took advantage of the mistake and put in an easy goal, just upon time. Thus an exciting game, even if the hockey was not of the best, ended in a win by 3 goals to 2 for the R. G. A.

In the final the 69th R.G.A. from Manora met the 93rd R.F.A. from Hyderabad on the Gymkhana ground. It was a very disappointing game and did not raise the least enthusiasm or excitement. Neither team could accommodate its play to suit the ground, which was altogether too fast for their hard hitting methods. In consequence there was no combination at all and the ball was repeatedly out of play. Neither side could score and the match will have to be replayed this evening to decide which team is to hold the shield for the year.

In the re-play next day the game was more exciting and both teams played better than on their previous encounter. Still there was too much hard-hitting, but there was some combination and a few pretty movements.

The 69th got the better of the first bully and soon scored their first goal, and towards the end of the first half the right wing getting possession on the half-way line, ran down the touch line to the circle and dribbled clean into goal. The 93rd forced another short corner and made a valiant effort to score; the 69th's goalkeeper saving two shots brilliantly.

Immediately on resuming, the 93rd ran through, and their centre-forward scored with a fast high shot. Within the first ten minutes the 93rd scored the equalising goal also.

In the first 10 minutes extra time the 93rd received a short corner, but made nothing of it.

In the second 10 minutes extra time the 69th and 93rd both received long corners, but nothing came of them. Almost on the stroke of time the 93rd got a short corner. The first shot failed, but in the ensuing scramble the 93rd's inside left managed to shoot the winning goal.

Mrs. Shaw presented the shield to the Hyderabad team after General Shaw had said a few words. Giving a short account of the history of the shield the General said it was presented to the Karachi Gymkhana by Sir Thomas Dewar in 1905 to be played for every year, and it was remarkable that the Gymkhana had never won it. He hoped they would have better luck next year.

CRICKET IN KARACHI.

GYMKHANA vs. BORAHS.

The delightfully cool and cloudy weather, we have been experiencing all through this month, has made all outdoor excercises a pleasure, and cricket has been going strong. One of the most interesting matches was that between the Gymkhana and the Borahs in which the prominent feature was the very poor show made by the 'tail' of each of the elevens. At the beginning of the Borah's innings it looked very likely that the Gymkhana would be the losers, but none of the last six batsman of the Borahs were able to do anything with the Gymkhana bowling, and just failed to make the last 5 runs to win. It was a very exciting finish. The following was the score:—

KARACHI GOLF CLUB.

This has been a great month for golfers, as many of the chief competitions of the year have been taking place, and evening after evening both the ladies' and men's links have been crowded with players of both sexes. The last fortnight has seen the conclusion of the two tournaments for ladies, a ladies' foursome and a ladies' single. Mrs. Hodgert and Miss Scott Makenzie were the ultimate winners of the former, and Mrs. D. H. Wilson and Mrs. Newmen were the winner and runner up respectively of the latter.

Then for 2 days last week the members of the club both ladies and men turned out in large numbers to play for the cups presented by the captain. The conditions were two rounds under handicap against Bogey, and from the following scores it will be seen that the "Colonel" was too good for most of the players, Miss E. Lang and Mr. P. Ralli are to be congratulated on winning the respective cups.

SKIN TROUBLE KEPT CHILDREN AWAKE

Herself and Four Children a Mass of Sores. Discharge Like Water Before Scabs Formed. Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

6, Dundonald Rd., Colwyn Bay, N. Wales.—"My eldest boy, eight years old, caught a skin disease from the school. We all had it except baby, in fact I was the worst. It was awful when we went out in the sun. Those who know me said my face would be marked, it was in such a state. The trouble kept the children awake many nights. The discharge was like water before the scabs formed. It was like a scald. It would blister up and then break and then spread. Myself and four children were a mass of sores. It was terrible.

"I tried all kinds of ointment; each seemed to make it itch and inflame it more. So I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The result was soothing, so I got a box of Cuticura Ointment and Soap. We are free from even a pimple now, thanks to Cuticura Soap and Ointment. They cured us completely." (Signed) Mrs. Eliza Jones, May 23, 1912.

No other emollients do so much for pimples, blackheads, red, rough skins and itching, scaly scalps. Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout India, a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. Skin Book, will be sent post-free on application to Muller, Maclean & Co., Calcutta or Bombay, or Newbery, 27 Charterhouse Sq., London.

A CO-OPERATIVE POLICY.

Lord Curzon first perceived the desirability of a closer association between the Government and its subjects, and endeavoured to promote it by his acts and public speeches, especially the annual orations with which he closed the budget debates. These were lucid and comprehensive interpretations of the policy of his Government upon matters affecting the welfare of the people who before his time were left to make their own deductions, with such adventitious help as might be obtained from documents, reports, and resolutions which the majority had not opportunities of perusing and could not comprehend in their English garb. In this connection we have a suggestion to make with a view to creating an educative influence which would be a useful adjunct to present methods as a means of informing the people of what is transpiring in the workshops of the Central Government, and of which most of them receive diluted and not altogether accurate accounts through the medium of the Indian press. This is that all important pronouncements by the Viceroy whether at the Council Board or elsewhere, should be rendered into the vernaculars and distributed broadcast throughout the country. There is a disposition in official circles to assume that there is, or ought to be, a general knowledge of the acts and intentions of the Government which in reality does not exist and will not come into operation among the untaught millions of India until more popular methods are introduced of explaining occurrences and decisions with the reasons for them. This might be achieved to some extent by the means we suggest; for all the utterances of the Viceroy as the representative of the Kaiser-i-Hind are of superlative importance in the eyes of his subjects who are dimly aware of happenings in a sphere beyond the horizon of those who are unfamiliar with our tongue. Consider, for example, the impression that might have been produced by an immediate distribution through the Provincial administrations of the speech made by Lord Hardinge at the recent session of the Council which contained several notable suggestions for a closer affinity between the Government and its subjects, but which the majority of the latter will not hear of except in distorted and incomplete versions which will not appeal to the popular imagination, and that after all was its real objective. There is still a lack of perspective in the official vision in these matters, and the defect might be cured or ameliorated by the addition of a lakh or so to the State printing bills, an expansion at which no one would murmur in view of the educative results it would produce.

Lord Curzon's successor was confronted with conditions upon which we need not dwell, except to remark that they were not favourable to co-operative schemes, although the anarchy he had to subdue was not permitted to affect the historical reforms which will always be associated with his rule. He was, however, able to bring Feudatory India into closer partnership by his appeal to the Princes to act in conjunction with the Government in preventing the spread of disaffection to their States. Their response was immediate and complete, and it was then realised by many people for the first time that these principalities were a significant political asset, solidly arrayed with the Viceroy against the plotters of revolution and unrest. The co-operation thus revealed was subsequently strengthened by the Viceroy's declaration of policy toward the States in a speech which is their Magna Charta, second only to the assurances in the Queen's proclamation, by the decision to hold periodical conferences for the settlement of matters in which they are specially interested and by the more recent decision to appoint a full-time Secretary for the conduct of their relations with the Viceroy, whose hegemony is one of their fondest privileges. Protected India, whose marvellous progress was one of the themes on which Mr. Montagu recently discoursed to Parliament, is therefore a co-operative unit in the administration, and the present trend of official policy is to develop similar conditions in larger India, where there is still a divergence of views on many points between the Government and the people whose sympathy and unison it desires to enlist. The genesis of this idea is perceivable in Lord Hardinge's despatch of two years ago regarding the extension of self-government and other concessions to the popular programme which has since been exhaustively stated to the Islington Commission. But the Secretary of State despite the appreciation of these proposals by his under-study in the Commons, dissociated himself and the Cabinet from them entirely, and co-operation in this direction underwent a temporary eclipse.

The next move was made appropriately enough by Mr. Montagu as the result of his inspection of our administration at close quarters. In the peroration of his Budget Speech the Under Secretary said: "the old era of a hard and fast division between the government and the people on racial lines has disappeared for ever. The watchword of the future is co-operation. We are pledged to advance and we mean to advance; but it must be steadily and prudently. I appeal to the British and Indians alike to make this co-operation a reality by inspiring it with the vital elements of tact, sympathy, and sincerity. If anything I have said tends to secure for one section of the Indian Community a further instalment in the realization of its just and proper ambitions and for the other a more personal and elastic understanding of our rule then I shall feel that I have not wasted the time of the House." The speech with which the Viceroy closed the Simla Session of his Council re-echoed these sentiments in more guarded language, because he was speaking as the head of the executive government, and was aware that his utterances would be scrutinised by the progressive party for indications of a conversion to their ideals. But even so, he was able to assure both Hindus and Mahomedans that his Government was in full sympathy with their aspirations, although he admonished the latter for their attempts to influence British policy towards the Khalifate by appeals for intervention. The point which was immediately taken up with strong approbation was the Viceroy's declaration of full sympathy with the Indian cause in South Africa and his determination to pursue a policy of firm remonstrance until their grievances were righted. The Bengali leader who sits on the Council gave this decision his unqualified applause, and his note of appreciation and gratitude has since been reflected in the resolutions of some of the national associations. The Muslims, however, have not taken the application of the Viceregal prelude good temperedly as their League has ignored an expostulation garbed in the most friendly terms and with much good reasoning behind it, and has given its support to the delegates who have gone to England "to explain the real attitude of the Indian Mahomedans." This is surely a supererogatory mission, because their is no lack of knowledge on the point both here and at Home, and nothing but chagrin can come of an attempt to influence British opinion in matters wherein it is already fast set. However this may be, the principal aspect of the situation is a clear and strong desire on the part of the Government, both Home and India, to come into closer association with its subjects on points of policy and administration by inviting their co-operation. It is readier means of creating a working partnership than an attitude of hostility and aloofness, and the development of this idea will be followed with great interest, as if Indians are responsive it seems to offer a solution for one of our problems because no real progress can occur without a consolidation of the official and popular forces.

BOY SCOUTS. "Sir R. Baden Powell is the greatest educator of our times" was the verdict of Professor Griffiths speaking at the British Association meeting. The proof of this statement rests upon the view expressed recently by Dr. Saleeby, the well-known medical expert, that "the Boy Scout movement is the greatest constructive idea of our century." This movement is now well into its sixth year of existence, and its popularity was never greater. When it first started the public's attitude was one of perplexity, mingled with not a little amused scepticism. Some people thought it was one of those fads which have a brief fluttering existence; others looked upon it as merely a healthy jolly game for the boys; not many realised the good work it would do and the fine spirit it would foster; fewer still dreamed that within a short time Boy Scout banners would wave in the breeze of nearly every quarter of the globe. The reason for this growth is not difficult to explain. Scouting is a manly pursuit which at once strikes that chord in every boy's heart—the love of adventure. It provides the joyous life of the open-air, the life of the woods, the tents, and the camp-fire, and at the same time it teaches discipline and brings out the best qualities of the lad. Above all, scouting teaches a boy to be resourceful and chivalrous. There is another result which is important to note. It is that there is a very considerable demand for Boy Scouts from employers of labour, who appreciate their usefulness, trustworthiness and general alertness. Those who criticise the movement on the ground that it savours of militarism are wrong in this that to the lads it is not militarism, but a popular form of recreation which appeals to their robustness and their imagination. It does not arouse the fighting spirit, nor is it desired by the leaders of the movement that it should, and any such tendency is discountenanced. On the other hand, it has many of the results of voluntary militarism in teaching discipline and improving physique, and it is for this reason that the Boy Scout movement is so valuable and will have such an appreciable bearing on the question of national defence in the future.

RECRUITING IN IRELAND. The Army authorities have invented a new system of recruiting in Ireland. Hitherto they contended themselves with the ordinary practice of parading one or two of their smartest men outside the military depots, whose business it was to interview likely youths with an ambition for a soldier's life. Of late, however, the anti-enlisting campaign has rendered it necessary for the military authorities to take more strenuous means to secure recruits. The best types of physical manhood in the smartest regiments are being sent through the country lanes and towns and villages. They are selected on account of their engaging manner and for their capacity to insinuate themselves into the confidence of the enterprising Irish youth who thinks a career in a military depot is preferable to the monotonous existence of a farm labourer. They are provided with sufficient money to act like men on a holiday rather than recruiting officers. The "Irish Guards" which were constituted by Queen Victoria after the Boer War may have to be disbanded if Irish youths are not forthcoming after this new recruiting campaign; for thirty per cent of its strength is not at the present moment Irish at all. But the end justifies the means and, no doubt, a smart recruiting sergeant will find numerous recruits.

GERMANY AND WOMEN'S RIGHTS. According to a writer in the Englishwoman, the women of Germany are beginning to wake up to the fact that they have rights, and a "movement," has just begun. The Conservative Party, which represents the landowning interest, is said to be the most deadly enemy the women's movement has to encounter. And the National Liberal Party—which represents the policy of the industrial capitalists—is not a friend of women's suffrage. It accepts women's work, we are told, but refuses to countenance the ideal of women's equality. Women also render generous support to the Progressive People's Party, but there is a section in this party which cannot be relied on for thorough-going support for votes for women. So far, the Social Democratic Party is the only party "which can be depended on to fight for the equal rights of women in everysphere." The guarantee of the ultimate success of the German women's movement is to be looked for in the fact that it is "a vital movement, most vital of all as the advance guard, on the higher road to citizenship, of the mighty host of German women and maidens who go out into the world to earn their living—and to one-third of all the human beings in Germany whose work lies within the economic sphere."

IRELAND AND SCOTLAND. To Joseph Devlin, the fiery and eloquent member of Parliament for Belfast, belongs the credit of calling attention to "the big debt which Irishmen owe to Scotland" in their battle for Home Rule. Devlin has been able to assure himself that Scotland is as sound as ever in that friendly compact. As he said: "Sir Edward Carson and his troupe of political panic-mongers came to inquire 'Stands Scotland where it did?' on the question of Home Rule, and the answer was given in thunder tones that Scotland was more than ever determined that the Irish question should be settled once and for all in accordance with the wishes of the overwhelming majority of the Irish people and on the lines of the Government Home Rule Bill. "The Scottish," Devlin went on to point out, "are a logical and a practical people. They cannot understand why in a constitutionally governed country the will of the majority of the people shall not prevail, or why a fraction of a faction of the Irish people shall have the right to impose its will, not only upon Ireland, but upon Great Britain and the Empire." It was from the first regarded an excellent augury for the success of Home Rule that a great and independent race like the Scottish people should have been with it so heartily, but what result it will produce remains to be seen.

It is understood that building operations for the new cantonments at Delhi will be put actively in hand during the ensuing cold weather.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

GREEK KING AND KAISER.

FRANCO-TURKISH AGREEMENT.

TRAGEDY OF A PRINCESS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, Sept. 20.

The Berlin correspondent of the "Paris-Midi" gives a somewhat new version of the unfortunate speech of King Constantine. He says that after giving the most blatant publicity to the exuberant praise of the German military principles Berlin is now endeavouring to minimise the importance of the affair and not least annoyed is the Kaiser himself. Whereas the accident actually occurred at Potsdam, in the presence of only a few superior officers and in a quasi-private circle, the "Berliner Zeitung am Mittag," which first published the speeches, stated that they were made at Anhalt Station, and represented the occasion as being a solemn political one. It is worth note that the words spoken on Saturday morning were only published on Monday afternoon, by which time probably the King had almost forgotten them and never expected to hear about them again. A semi-official note in the "Lokalanzeiger" throws a further light on the subject when it explains: "We may repeat that the King of the Hellenes never dreamed of disparaging the the French military system. He merely intended to destroy the fable of the inferiority of Prussian stragy, so loudly proclaimed after the Turkish disasters." Putting two and two together, it may be guessed that the King said what he did in a moment of enthusiasm at his promotion to Field-Marshal's rank, and with the conviction that nobody would ever repeat it. But it was the Kaiser who put the words into his mouth and caused them subsequently to be published in order to rehabilitate the fame of the German army in an equally world-wide fashion as that in which it had been maligned. As almost every French paper contains leading articles commenting on the situation it is impossible to quote adequately, but the general opinion seems to be that it should not be difficult to make amends for a very regrettable personal indiscretion—which however, as M. Venizelos, the Greek Premier, points out, has no political significance, as the King was not accompained by any responsible Minister. An exception from the majority of writers is M. Hanotaux, who in the course of a long article in the "Figaro," looks upon the journey of the King of the Hellenes to Berlin as one of the signs of the evolution that is taking place in general politics, and particularly in the Triple Alliance. It would probably be more correct to take the view that no dark designs are hidden beneath the King's words and that as no responsible Minister was present no political gravity can officially be attached to them. On the other hand, it is now stated that there is every chance of M. Venizelos accompanying the King to Paris, in which case the royal peace offering will bear an official and political stamp.

THE TURCO-BULGARIAN FRONTIER.

An official account of Thursday's sitting of the Turkish and Bulgarian delegates states that the protocol of a definite treaty regarding the frontiers between the two countries has been signed. The questions of nationalities and of the legal status of the inhabitants were discussed and settled. A commission was formed to examine questions of a secondary nature. According to the terms of the protocol the new frontier line leaves the Black Sea at the mouth of the River Basova, immediately north of the town of San Stefano, joining the old frontier near Devletazach, and follows the old frontier as far as Sujak. It then passes two kilometres south of Mustafa Pasha and two kilometres east of Ortakeui. It joins the Maritza at Mandra, and follows the course of the river as far as the delta, where the frontier is formed by the right branch of the river. Bulgaria has given way on all the principal points, but she obtains the concession of five small cazas or districts, namely Vassilikon, Tirnovojik, Mustafa Pasha, Ortakeui, and Sufli. All of them are at present occupied by Turkish troops, but their populations are mainly Bulgarian. At the last moment the Bulgarians made a special bid for Demotika, offering to build at their own expense a railway from Adrianople to Babaeski in exchange for the cession of the town, but the offer was declined. The Turkish proposals in regard to the nationalities question, to which the Bulgarians subscribed, provide that the Moslems in the ceded territories shall retain their Turkish nationality for four years, after which they become subjects of Bulgaria. They also guarantee the free exercise of religious duties, confirm the old-established privileges of the Moslems, whether communal or individual, grant an amnesty to those who took up arms against the Bulgarians, and exemption from military service. The Vakufs (Pious Foundations) will be respected, as well as the lands belonging to the Crown. In reference to the question of the exchange of prisoners it is understood that the Turkish delegates absolutely declined to pay an indemnity for their keep.

FRANCE AS BANKER.

Now that the long period of war seems likely to give way to years of peace, not only the countries who have directly suffered from warfare but those whom the uncertainty of the situation compelled to take costly precautions are preparing to apply to France to replenish their treasuries. Of the belligerents, it is stated that Turkey will ask for and receive about £36,000,000, Greece and Bulgaria £16,000,000, and Rumania and Servia £12,000,000 each. Austria still hopes to effect a loan of about £40,000,000, which she badly needs to meet the arrears of the cost of the long mobilisation during the Balkan war, and Hungary half as much also. Russia is counting on another £20,000,000 shortly, and Spain will probably want a similar sum. China is likely to ask for £8,000,000, and South America £12,000,000, whilst Italy and Canada are expected to apply before long for substantial loans. As the "Liberte" observes France seems regarded as an enormuous banker sitting upon an inexhaustible safe, and the universe believes her to be much richer even than she really is. The world is now preparing to beg something like $20,000,000,000, and French financiers and the Government are begining to ask whether it is an advantage or otherwise that French capital should thus be employed for the benefit of foreign countries, instead of encouraging and exploiting native resources and industries M. Jaures think it a very bad thing, and loudly accuses capital of being afraid of the proletariat and of systematically and of malice aforethought employing itself anywhere rather than in developing the work and life of the masses. Anybody who is acquainted with the French "bourgeoisie," whom M. Jaures accuses of want of enterprise, must know, however, that it has always been the first to encourage industries like the motor car trade and aviation, and is endowed with admirable business instinct. It has acquired by long experience the best way of managing its own wealth, and it is owing to this that France has attained her present pre-eminent position as a lending Power. Consequently, if it prefers to send its savings abroad to employing them at home, there must be a reason, and the "Liberte" is probably not far wrong when it says that the French preference for foreign investments is rooted in mistrust of Socialism, with its everlasting threats of war on capital, and brutal methods of Syndicalism towards employers. Sound capitalists and thrifty investors seek security before large return, and, whether true or not they fancy better security is offered abroad than in a country under the perpetual menace of revolutionary syndicates.

FRANCO-TURKISH AGREEMENT.

A Franco-Turkish agreement has been signed by Javid Bey and M. Pichon, Minister for Foreign Affairs, having the following as its principal points:—

First, Asia Minor: The cession of two ports upon the Black Sea and a railway line of about 600 miles formed between Samsun, Sivas, Erzeroum, Trebizonde, made up on the north-west of a branch of the line Samsun, Sivas, leading to Rastamuni, and on the south-west the line Ejin Rharput, Lake Van. Second, Syria: A line which will some day connect Syria with Egypt is conceded to the Damascus Hamah Company. This line is a prolongation of the branch parallel to the coast, from Rayak to Ramleh, on the Jaffa-Jerusalem line. The construction of the ports of Jaffa and Caiffa is conceded to the consortium of Ottoman ports, as is that of the port of Tripoli, in Syria.

In consideration of these concessions, France agrees to admit to quotation on the Paris Bourse a Turkish loan of liquidation of at least £20,000,000 to be floated in November. France also agrees to the creation of monopolies in Turkey, such as petroleum, alcohol playing cards, etc, the increase of 4 per cent. in the Customs, and the application of patent law to her subjects (provided other Powers agree). The revenue from these resources will be available to guarantee future loans.

CONVENTION WITH GERMANY.

A Franco-German agreement is also for signature. It is based upon French renunciation of participation in the Baghdad line, and in exchange France gets a proportional part of the next big Turkish loan. Germany now abandons the idea of doubling the Baghdad line on the north by a line from Angora to Diarbekir, via Sivas. The German line, starting from Angora, will now reach Raisarieh to the south-east and join the main Baghdad line at Bulgurlu. The German Branch of Diarbekir will join the French system at Rharput. On the noth-west a German branch, starting from Adabazar, will join the Samsun-Rastamuni line of the French system thus connecting Constantinople and Samsun. Lastly, a third branch will connect the French and German systems of Samsun-Sivas. The Franco-Turkish Convention is conditional nominally on the conclusion of the agreement between Turkey and Bulgaria respecting the Thracian frontiers and the settlement of a number of small questions concerning the status of French citizens and enterprises in the Ottoman Empire. There is no doubt, however, that it will serve as a basis for future closer and better relations between France and Turkey, and, considering how it also affects other Powers, its importance can hardly be overrated. The greatest value is attributed to the concession for the Port of Haiffa, and to the right of prolonging the Aleppo-Homs-Rayak line to Lydda, there joining the Jaffa-Jerusalem line. The Porte has also promised an equal portion of the pilgrim and general traffic to its own Hejaz line and the French line between Damascus and Mezarib. French would have liked to obtain the concession for working the Hejaz line between Mezarib el Afuli Haiffa but for the present, is contented with the assurance that her interests will be safeguarded. A French inspector will be appointed to this railway which has hitherto been mostly supervised by German engineer. France will now have three Syrian ports and a line connecting directly Aleppo and Jerusalem.

THE TRAGEDY OF A PRINCESS.

What is believed to be a most pathetic love tragedy has occurred in a branch of the Royal House of Saxe Weimar Eisenach, of which the Grand Duke of Saxe Weimar is the head.

On Thursday morning the beautiful Princess Sophia of Sax Weimar Eisenah was found dead in her bed room in the castle of her father, Prince Wilhelm of Saxe Weimar Eisenach, at Heidelberg. She had committed suicide by shooting herself in the forehead with a revolver. Despatches from Heidelberg say she shot herself about midnight, after taking leave of her father and friends in apparently her usual good spirits and retiring to her room. At the time of her retirement almost all the occupants of the castle had gone to bed, but the noise of the shot was heard; and when her room was entered she was already dead. At first it was stated by the family that the cause of death was weakness of the heart, but comment was aroused as the Princess, who was only twenty-five years old, and one of the prettiest of German royalties, had shown no signs of illness. Indeed, only yesterday she was out walking and shopping in Heidelberg, and seemed to be in good health. She had only recently returned from a motor trip in the Tyrol, which she had taken in company with her father and an officer of the Heidelberg garrison.

AUSTRALIA GIVES THE KING SHIPS.

PEOPLE'S PATRIOTIC ENTHUSIASM.

A POLICY WHICH IS ABOVE POLITICS.

MUTUAL IMPERIAL PROPERTY.

SYDNEY, Oct. 5.

Mr. Cook, the Commonwealth Premier, presided at a Fleet banquet last night, at which a large and representative gathering was present.

The proceedings were characterised by intense patriotic enthusiasm.

Replying to the toast of his health, Lord Denman said a more historical scene had never taken place at Sydney than the entry of the Fleet. The Australians were grateful for the King's interest, which had been demonstrated by his inspection of the flag-ship at Portsmouth. Lord Denman fully endorsed Australia's naval policy, characterising it as a splendid contribution to the naval strength of the Empire.

Mr. Cook, proposing, the Royal Australian Navy, declared that the policy of the Commonwealth was above politics. The ships were no less the King's because they were Australia's, and were no less Australia's because they were the King's.

These sentiments were loudly applauded.

Mr. Fisher, supporting these remarks, fully endorsed the statement that the Fleet was above party considerations.

Rear-Admiral Patey, responding, was accorded a great reception. He thoroughly endorsed the Henderson scheme. A good start was half the battle. He referred appreciatively to South Africa's great reception, which he characterised as a compliment to the new Navy and to the Commonwealth.

Responding to the toast of his health, Sir George King-Hall said that the birth of the Australian Navy was yet another proof of the Commonwealth's indestructible and indissoluble union with the Motherland. He hoped to see the Henderson policy fully carried out. Only by an active immigration policy would the Commonwealth maintain a white Australia, with which he was in full agreement. The time had arrived for the Governments to evolve the means of bringing the Dominions into closer and more frequent relationship with the councils of the Empire, more especially regarding the problems of defence. In conclusion he bade an affectionate farewell to the people of Australia.

WELCOME OF NEW FLAG-SHIP.

SYDNEY, Oct. 4.

The arrival of the new flag-ship "Australia" and the cruiser "Sydney" was magnificent and imposing. They gradually emerged from the haze into the sunshine escorted by cruisers and destroyers.

Speaking after an inspection of 4,500 volunteers, he said that the dominant note throughout the inspection was 'No Surrender.'

The other evening, at Dungannon, a preminent volunteer had said to him, 'We have been tortured with this question long enough. Our women folk are asking us to get done with it once and for all. There is not a man among us who minds losing his life, but we want to finish the business."

Sir Edward Carson said in conclusion that the Government had not won yet and was not going to win. He appealed to their fellow citizens in the rest of the United Kingdom not to betray them.—Reuter.

POLICE MURDER.

ARREST OF CALCUTTA YOUTHS.

STORY OF A PREVIOUS ATTEMPT.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, Oct. 4.

In connection with the murder of the C. I. D. head-constable, Haripada Deb, in College Square, the police yesterday arrested two youths at the Howrah railway station. Their names have not yet been disclosed by the police, who are very reticent in the matter. Important developments are shortly expected.

College Square, which had been closed since the day of the outrage, was on Thursday evening opened to the public. A suggestion has been made that C. I. D. officers of the Special Department while on outdoor duty should move about in pairs armed with revolvers, to the use of which they should be trained.

LATER.

Subsequent to the murder of Haripado Deb in College Square on Monday night it was reported that a mysterious explosion had occurred [illegible] gate of the Square on the previous Friday night. The flash was seen by an official connected with a well-known institution. It was quite dark at the time. The police theory is that the supposed explosion was the report of a revolver shot, and that an attempt was made on the life of Haripado Deb on that night. It is supposed that the weapon was fired at a fairly long range and that the shot missed. The miscreants disappeared, and then made arrangements to repeat the attempt at close quarters on Monday night.

It is significant that this incident, as well as the murder, took place between 7-30 and 8 p. m.

BRICK THROWN AT A MAGISTRATE.

INCIDENT IN A CALCUTTA POLICE COURT.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, Oct. 4.

A sensation was created yesterday in the Court of Mr. N. C. Bysack, Deputy Magistrate of Howrah, when the magistrate was hit in the face with a brick-bat hurled from the prisoners' dock by an accused named Ramlal, who was charged with theft.

Ramlal had been in hajut for the last two months, and yesterday he was brought to the police court under a police escort. It is supposed that the man had picked up the missile in the jail compound and concealed it within his clothes. During the hearing of the case the magistrate expressed his intention of committing the accused to the Sessions, whereupon the latter brought out the brickbat and threw it, the missile hitting the magistrate under the eye and inflicting a wound which had to be bandaged.

The accused was then placed before Mr. B. Hazra, another Deputy Magistrate and sentenced to one year's rigorous imprisonment on a charge of assaulting the trying magistrate.

The man made a statement to the effect that he did not like the idea of being committed to the Sessions and that was why he hit the magistrate.

LAHORE BRIBERY CHARGES.

CASE AGAINST PROVINCIAL OFFICIAL.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LAHORE, Oct. 5.

At the resumed sitting of the Commission to enquire into the charges against Barkat Ali, Extra Assistant Commissioner, the accused filed a written statement for four charges brought against him denying them all.

Mr. Bevan Petman, for the prosecution, then addressed the commissioners. He said there was no reason why false charges should have been made against the accused. Those, who alleged that they gave a bribe to Barkat Ali, had all been acquitted by him and it was not alleged by the defence that a personal motive or enmity existed. The motive alleged for the bringing of a false case was the enmity of the Deputy Commissioner, who extorted statements from witnesses through Lala Shriram. Nothing, however, was alleged in the written statement filed by the accused and the statement of the Deputy Commissioner was not contradicted. No enmity had been alleged against Shriram. In the case against Rama Singh it was found that there was no evidence against the man. There was nothing to justify the order of a local enquiry and he should have been discharged at an early stage. On the 4th charge, which was the bribe received from Subedar Partab Singh, Mr. Petman said that the order to remove his uniform was not sufficient to induce him to make a false charge as he was subsequently acquitted and given compensation. He was a respectable man and had much to lose. He refused to make a statement to Shriram and his statement was only obtained by the Deputy Commissioner who had to write to his [illegible] ling officer.

DISCIPLINE OF POLICE OFFICERS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, Oct. 4.

The conference of Commissioners of Divisions ended yesterday at Darjeeling. The subjects discussed were the amendment of the Chowkidari Act and the revision of the Chowkidari Manual. The conference also discussed the question of additional rules of discipline for police officers and the question of empowering magistrates to recall orders of attachment under Section 145 C. P. Code, when they were satisfied that no further need of them existed.

Gas is now in use in Bombay for gold melting, soap boiling, brazing and every conceivable purpose for which heat and power are required, since it is found the heat can be regulated, to a nicety, impossible with solid fuel.

A PRACTICAL JOKE.

VOLUNTEERS GET A FRIGHT.

"BOMB" FOUND IN A TACTICAL MODEL.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, Oct. 5.

A most disquieting discovery, says the Englishman, was made at the headquarters of the 1st and 2nd Calcutta Volunteer Rifles in Strand Road yesterday morning. A tactical model, consisting of a large shallow box with sand to create miniature battle-fields, was recently erected in the main hall on the ground floor. Yesterday morning Colour Sergeant Instructor Twigden of the 2nd Battalion, was engaged in smoothing out the sand in the model with a stick. He presently struck against something hard and pulled out a parcel wrapped in brown paper. On examination the parcel was found to contain an infernal machine or bomb.

It consisted of an oblong tin canister about five inches by two. To the top [illegible] a cartridge with a detonating cap buried fast with the tin. About an inch away from the cap was a sliding arrangement with a catch. The bomb was very promptly placed in a pail of water and the police were communicated with. After it had been in the water for a little while the canister was taken out, and when shaken it was very evident that there were nails or some other missiles within. A greasy liquid exuded from the corners of the canister.

The bomb will be examined by experts.

CALCUTTA, Oct. 5.

The general belief among the police and the volunteer authorities is that the suspected bomb found in the volunteer head-quarters was an ill-timed practical joke on the part of some unknown persons who attended the recent dance there. Owing to offices being closed during the Puja holidays it is possible that ten days will elapse before the contents of the canister will be examined by experts. The tactical model in which the canister was found is one of those introduced by General Ray. The model is twelve feet long by nine broad, and the average depth of the sand is 6 in. The canister was a re t powder tin 6 in 1 in. 2 in and had been buried under a heaped portion of the sand which represented a hill.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

KARACHI, Oct. 4.

The Japanese steamer "Soyo Maru," belonging to the Toyo Kisen Kaisha, commanded by Captain Ymaki, arrived in Karachi harbour this morning from Abadan in the Persian Gulf with a cargo of liquid fuel in bulk, consigned to Messrs. Shaw Wallace and Co., the Karachi agents of the Burma Oil Company. This is the first consignment of liquid fuel from the Persian Gulf imported into Karachi, and marks the expansion generally of the petroleum trade. This is also the first visit of a Japanese steamer to this port. The fuel will be pumped into a new tank erected recently specially for the storage of this kind of petroleum.

It is stated that the Bombay committee will urge further suggestions with regard to an 18 per cent. cash payment.

KARACHI CONGRESS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

KARACHI, Oct. 4.

The City Municipal elections, which occupied most of the time of the office-bearers of the Congress and suspended the work of preparation for the Congress, being now over the Congress work has been resumed with vigour. All departments are now actively working. A large maidan in a central locality has been secured for the erection of the pandal and camps, and the construction work will soon be taken in hand.

About ten days before the Credit Bank suspended payments the Congress funds were withdrawn therefrom and deposited in the Bank of Bombay, who are now Congress bankers.

Reports from Shanghai show that the extraordinary high prices for Indian opium there are still maintained.

FINANCIAL PANIC IN BOMBAY.

A RUN ON LOCAL BANKS.

RECEIVER APPOINTED FOR CREDIT BANK.

The panic caused amongst depositors who have dealings with Indian banks, became intense on Saturday morning when a run was made on several Bombay banks. A crowd of anxious people was seen in front of two or three local banks, which anticipating the rush were fully prepared to cope with it.

The demands for withdrawals were calmly and promptly responded to and no scene of excitement was caused because the crowd quickly saw that payments were being made without any unusual delay or trouble. This established confidence and many people changed their minds and went away without withdrawing.

As the banks close early on Saturday usually there is a greater rush than on other week days at the counter and though every bank had a busy day the rush of panic-stricken depositors was not noticed at the largest banks. It was more noticeable at the Poona Bank, and the Merchants' Bank, where depositors of small amounts made a run on the Savings Bank Department.

THE CREDIT BANK OF INDIA.

A special meeting of the Directors of the Credit Bank of India was held on Saturday afternoon in connection with the present crisis.

The following account was officially supplied to the Press:—

The Manager reported that on account of the failures of various Indian Banks there was an unprecedented rush at the head office and branches, and in spite of strenuous efforts to meet the demands on the 2nd instant, the rush did not diminish and it became necessary to suspend payments on the 3rd instant.

The Manager further reported that the position of the Bank was such that if facts and figures were ascertained and views of the depositors and shareholders were obtained, it might be possible to renew the working of the Bank with advantage.

It was resolved that under the circumstances the Manager be given two days' time to submit his report and that in the meanwhile the meeting of the Board be adjourned till Monday, the 6th October.

The attention of the Board having been drawn to the matter, the Board notes with surprise the erroneous reports that have appeared in some papers with respect to speculations in shares. The Board was in a position to assert that no speculation was carried on by it or by its sanction or with its knowledge, and that it had no concern whatsoever with any kind of speculation.

EFFECTS IN SHARE BAZAR.

Though not so intense as on Friday, some excitement prevailed in the Share bazar on Saturday when large fluctuations were noticed in certain mill shares. Fazulbhoy shares which were quoted at Rs. 610 on Thursday at the close went down to Rs. 565 to-day at the opening. They went down further to Rs. 550 in a few minutes, but rallied again to Rs. 560 at noon.

Davids, which were quoted at Rs. 555 on Thursday evening, opened to-day at Rs. 540, went down to Rs. 520, came again to Rs. 545, but soon came down to Rs. 525.

There was a sympathetic weak tendency in others as well.

APPLICATION IN HIGH COURT.

At the Bombay High Court on Saturday, before Mr. Justice Davar, in Chambers, the Hon. Mr. T. J. Strangman, instructed by Messrs. Payne and Company, presented a petition on behalf of Mr. Dosabhai Ardeshir Cama, a broker and the depositor of a sum of Rs. 1,000 in the Credit Bank of India, Limited, which suspended payment on the morning of the 3rd instant.

The petitioner stated that the nominal capital of the Bank was one crore of rupees, divided into 200,000 shares of Rs. 50 each. The amount paid or credited as paid was ten lakhs. The Bank carried on business at twelve places, viz, Baroda, Karachi, Sukkur, Hyderabad (Sind), Ahmedabad, Rajkot, Nawsari, Surat, Lucknow, Junagad, Wadhwan Camp, and Bhawnagar. The Bank had agencies at Busra, Cawnpore, and other places.

The petitioner further said that the affairs of the Bank were greatly involved. The Bank had advanced large sums of money to the aggregate amount of fifteen lakhs, and advances had been made on its own shares, in some cases as security for shares taken in various joint stock companies. The petitioner further alleged that large advances had been made on personal securities.

The petitioner was unable to say what was the total amount due by the Bank, but, in any case, it exceeded the value of its assets.

The petitioner further said that he was informed and believed that a sum of three lakhs of rupees had been deposited by Mr. Chunilal Saraya, managing director of the Indian Specie Bank, for a fixed term which would expire on the 17th inst.

On the 2nd inst. the Credit Bank being unable to meet payments due on that date, Mr. Chunilal represented to Mr. Jaffer that the Indian Specie Bank of which he was the managing director would lend monies to the Credit Bank to tide over its present difficulties, and on such representation Mr. Chunilal got Mr. Jaffer to hand over to him certain properties of the Bank as security for the debt of local bills for an aggregate sum of Rs. 1,62,000.

The petitioner contended that it was necessary that steps should be taken forthwith to recover the above assets, as Mr. Chunilal was leaving for England on the 18th instant.

His Lordship, after hearing counsel appointed Mr. R. D. Sethna Provisional Official Liquidator of the assets and effects of the Credit Bank, the costs of the petition to be costs in the [illegible]

THE HINDUSTAN BANK.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LAHORE, Oct. 4.

According to a Karachi telegram to the Civil and Military Gazette Mr. Dialmal Chabiani, manager of the local office of the Hindustan Bank, which has just failed, makes an appeal to the public in which he says: "The above bank has got about thirty five branches and it may be imagined how exceedingly hard it must be to meet the demands of so many branches and so many depositors. I am writing this not only to inform the shareholders and depositors of the fact of the suspension, but to invite their opinion as to whether instead of winding up the business they will accept measures for the continuance of the concern. A meeting of shareholders will take place at the head office as soon as possible. The managing director of the bank, who is a brother of Mr. Harkishen Lal, is of the opinion that the bank can do well if the depositors will renew their receipts for a further period and the shareholders agree to forego dividend for some time but if they do not agree to this the loss to all will be much greater. Similar suggestions have been made for the continuance of the 'People's Bank.'"

Commenting on this appeal the Sind Gazette remarks: "It strikes us as extraordinary that the bank, which has suspended payment, should feel justified in asking for a renewal of public confidence and support without first publishing a full and exact statement upon the authority of unimpeachable auditors, disclosing the present state of its affairs."

The Hindustan Bank, Multan, and the Hindustan Bank, Karachi, both of which have been reported to have stopped payments are branches of one and the same concern whose headquarters are at Multan and not at Karachi. The bank is said to have thirty-five branches and its managing director is Lala Daulat Rai, a brother of Lala Harkishen Lal.

The Arya Patrika criticises the proposed reconstruction of the People's and the Amritsar Banks, on the ground that there is no guarantee that depositors will allow their money to remain and that the proposal to reopen the banks is fraught with grave risk.

PEOPLE'S BANK IN SIND.

KARACHI, Oct. 3.

The stoppage of payment by the People's Bank has caused a panic here among the Indian community, and all are anxiously waiting to hear the result of the conference which is soon to take place. It is said that Sind is likely to be concerned to the extent of about 12 lakhs of rupees as the Bank had many depositors all over this Province.

LUCKNOW, Oct. 4.

The local branch of the Credit Bank of India suspended payment yesterday on instructions from Bombay.

CONVICTS' SOCIETY.

STRANGE SOUTH AFRICAN STORY.

A sensational story of a native convicts' secret society, the facts as to which are well known to South African judges and Police authorities, has been unfolded in the course of a murder trial at Kimberley. Five native convicts were indicted for the murder of a fellow convict, named Jacob Mkabe, at Dutoitspan convict station. The story for the Crown was that Jacob had decided to withdraw from "Ninevite Society," abdicating the chieftainship, and had persuaded others to withdraw also. For this and for the fact that he was supposed to have carried tales to the station superintendent he was sentenced to death. He resisted endeavours to get him into a certain cell, but eventually went, and was set upon and stabbed to death.

One of the accused was a society's doctor another a "judge," a third succeeded Jacob as chief, the fourth belonged to an opposing faction known as the "The Scotchmen,' and the fifth was neutral.

The Ninevites are a native convict secret society. The evidence showed that they have their own king, chief, general, judges, doctor, and other officers, and hold secret courts, sentence fellow convicts to death, and issue the orders for the execution of their sentences.

Judge Lange said that the Ninevites orginated in Pretoria convict prison, and were represented all over the country. A native witness said that nearly all the convicts in Johannesburg were Ninevites. The deceased had been chief of the society. Secret prison meetings decided on the stabbings, and those appointed to execute orders were liable to punishment if they failed. This witness said the rule was "Once a Ninevite, always a Ninevite." Jacob's death warrant was "verbally signed," and it was ordained that, should the knife not be forthcoming, he should be killed while working on the De Beers floors.

Superintendent Dyason said the Ninevites cause immense trouble in the stations, and, although watched continually, held meetings, and reported to their king. The head of the society was in Pretoria, and was recognised throughout the Union prisons. Jacob's fellow convicts had recently called him a detective, and had since been trying to get at him, in consequence of which he (witness) had appointed a detective to watch and protect Jacob. Witness added that the lives of the witnesses in the present case would certainly be endangered after the proceedings.

One of the accused admitted stabbing the deceased "under orders from Pretoria," because it was thought that it was through him that two convicts had been shot at the Cinderella Prison. If he (witness) had not killed Jacob, he would undoubtedly have been killed himself. He did it in "self-defence."

Four of the accused were sentenced to death by Judge Lange.

PARSI LADY RECEIVES BAPTISM.

REASONS FOR ADOPTING CHRISTIANITY.

INDIGNATION IN HER COMMUNITY.

Miss Goolbai Jehangirshah Vakil, a Parsi lady aged 37, formerly a boarder in the University Settlement, No. 1, Procter Road, and afterwards employed as housekeeper in the same institute, was baptised in the Christian faith, on Friday morning, at the Mission Church, Girgaum.

Two days before receiving baptism she wrote to her mother and other relations, informing them of her intention and giving her reasons for doing so. She informed them that she would be baptised on Sunday morning. The mother and her other relations came to Bombay with the intention of dissuading her from taking such a course. But Goolbai stood firm, was baptised on Friday morning and then left Bombay.

Her mother says that while she was a boarder at the University Settlement for some years, she paid her expenses. Goolbai went to see her brother who was upcountry and on return joined the University Settlement as house-keeper.

Goolbai addressed a letter to the Parsi High Priest in the following terms:

UNIVERSITY SETTLEMENT,
No. 1, Procter Road, Girgaum,
Bombay, October 1st, 1913.

Dastoorji Saheb,
Dastoor Darab Peshoten Sanjana,

REVEREND SIR,—I beg to inform you by this, that the Parsi religion being proved dissatisfactory to me owing to its outward forms and ceremonies, the caste system, saying prayers in Zand, the unknown language, the cruel system of giving the dead to the vultures, etc., I am going to accept Christianity and be baptised on Sunday the 5th inst., in the Girgaum Mission Church, at 11 a. m.

I am one of the hundreds of Parsis who have no faith in such forms as above and have never observed them, without which, according to the Parsi belief, no Parsi could be called a real Zerthosti nor accepted by Zoroaster as his follower. As a matter of fact, I am at present neither a Parsi nor a Christian; which has been troubling me a lot, and find myself as well as all the others in the above state the most dishonest people before God. Because to adopt the religious principles of a nation and not to accept the Teacher is nothing but hypocricy. Looking at the present religious condition of the Parsis and the stage of mind they are reached to, it is obvious that they are in need of quite a new religion, and that new religion most suitable would be Christianity only It is true that Zoroaster also teaches the worship of the same one God but the system he gives for it is suitable to the orthodox people only. When God saw that the people wanted a better method of worship, He sent another Teacher, Jesus Christ, with a religion which would suit all the nations in all the ages. He was not only a prophet like Zoroaster and the others but the real incarnation of God Himself; Which could be plainly seen from His sinless and spotless life that He lived on earth, like which no human being has ever lived nor can ever in future. I firmly believe that whoever believes in Him and takes Him as one's own personal Saviour, He bestows one with His Own Holy Spirit and gives His Own eternal peace.

In short allow me to conclude this by saying that it is my earnest desire that all the Parsis would see the real need of the change of religion altogether for the whole community as I have been fortunate to see, and take this event of my conversion as an example of that longstanding need.

Yours faithfully,
(Miss) GOOLBAI J. VAKIL.

Though the letter has been made public the Parsee community seems to have received the information calmly. About sixty years ago when three Parsee youths declared their intention to receive baptism and went and lived with Dr. Wilson, the Parsee community was so excited that many prevented their boys from attending Mission Schools and several formed associations and institutions to make a counter demonstration against the missionaries by giving public lectures on the philosophy of the Zoroastrian religion.

Of the three Parsees two were dissuaded, whilst the third, the Rev. Mr. Dhanjibhai, remained firm. He lived to celebrate the 50 years' jubilee of his baptism and a church on the Esplanade Cross Road bore his name and was known as "Dhanji Deval." Since then more than 50 Parsis have embraced Christianity but none of them incurred so much public displeasure of the Parsis as Rev. Mr. Maneckji Mody.

Since then the cases of conversion of a Parsee have not appeared greatly to concern the community and the present case of Goolbai is not much talked of except in orthodox circles and among her own relations.

A CHURCH QUARREL.

MADRAS SECT CLAIMS PECULIAR RIGHTS.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

MADRAS, Oct. 4.

A matter of considerable interest to the Christian churches in India was the subject of an appeal on Wednesday before Mr. D. G. Waller I.C.S. the acting District Judge of Tinnevelly. Some Vallalas who form part of the Roman Catholic Church in Vadakkangulam sued the Bishop of the diocese, the parish priest and the Shanar members of the congregation for a declaration that they had the exclusive right to occupy the southern portion of the church and exclude the rest of the congregation from entering the chancel, decorating the altar, or participating in Mass and other rituals and ceremonies of the church, such as ringing the bell, hoisting the sacred flag, chanting the hymns, taking part in processions, etc. They further prayed for an injunction to restrain the bishop and other defendants from interfering with the rights so claimed and for a mandatory injunction to compel the bishop restore the partition wall which he had removed. A decree was passed by the Sub-Judge granting an injunction and with some reservation declaring that the plaintiffs had the exclusive right to perform various devotional ceremonies referred to in the plaint.

Mr. W. Barton, barrister, Madras, contended on behalf of the defendants on appeal that the suit was not cognisable by a civil court and in the alternative that the courts of this country were bound to enforce the canon laws of the church when they were not in conflict or inconsistent with the statute law. Counsel argued that on its consecration the church and all its appurtenances were vested in the bishop, that the parishioners had no rights of property in it, and that the bishop had the sole and supreme authority to regulate in all respects everything connected with the worship in the church and the administration of its properties, and that according to the canon law the bishop had full authority to revoke or modify his own previous orders and those of his predecessors.

Mr. V. Bengachary contended on behalf of the respondents that the right to worship was a civil right and the suit was cognisable by a civil court. Canon law was not applicable and even if it were it was modified by local usage as proved by the bishop's letter which recognised the Vallalas' exclusive occupation of the southern portion of the church from time immemorial and even applying the canon law the decree of the Pope in 185 1sanctioned this arrangement.

Judgment was reserved.

KARACHI MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

RESULT OF THE POLL.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT).

KARACHI, Oct. 1.

The triennial Municipal Elections, which have for some months past been causing a lot of local excitement, have at last taken place, and the declared result is given below. Never in the whole history of Karachi has such interest been exhibited in these elections, and, as will be observed, for nearly every ward there were many more candidates than there were seats so that there was much keen competition for votes, though eventually on the very eve of the elections, in 3 out of the 8 wards, there was no contest. For the first time, too, the Europeans, under the inspiration of the European Defence Association Branch here, put up two candidates both of whom were successful. The result of the elections shows that there are 9 new councillors. Analysis by religion of the new council as elected by the voters, and without regard to the nominations, which have not yet been made shows 13 Hindus, 5 Mahommedans, 2 Parsis, and 4 Christians. Comparing the new constitution with the former elected council we find that there were hitherto 12 Hindus, 5 Mahammadans, 3 Parsis, and 4 Christians: so that as the result of the present elections the Hindus gain one, the Parsis lose one, and the Mahammadans and the Christians remain the same. This result has no doubt been very disappointing to the Mahomedan community, for from the number of voters in each ward they might have secured at least 10 representatives.

It seems that owing to want of union among them and owing to the want of a proper leader suitable Mahammadan candidates were not selected to contest the different wards. This fact is proved by the total absence of Mahammadan candidates in Wards Nos. II and IV, where more than 1-3 of the voters are Mahammadans. Ward No. V is almost altogether a Mahammadan ward, and if the leaders of the different Muhammadan communities had joined hands the Muhammedans would have secured all the 5 seats.

The following is the official statement of the votes recorded for each candidate in the Karachi Municipal Elections:

WARD No. 1.—(3 seats).

Mr. Gidumal Fatehchand Bhojwani, 236 votes, Mr Goolam Hussain Kassim, 205 votes. Mr Tirathdas Chandumal, 149 votes, Mr Kalumal Pahlumal, 113 votes, Mr Chotirmal Tirathdas Sahta, 86 votes, Mr Dipchand Tejbhandas Ojha, 0 votes, Mr Kubchand Tejbondas Ojha, 0 votes.

WARD No. 2.—(3 seats).

UNCONTESTED.

The Hon'ble Mr Harchandari Vishindas, Mr Dipchand Tejbandas Ojha, Mr Locamal Chellaram., Mr. Cooverji Khimji., (withdrawn), Mr Khubchand Tejbandas Ojha., Mr Thawerdas Satoomal.

WARD No. 3—(3 seats).

Mr. Janmahomed A. Haji Dosul, 488 votes, Mr. Lalchand Hasamal, 325 votes Mr. Durgdas B. Advani, 292 votes, Mr. Nadershaw Edulji Dinshaw, 231 votes, Mr. Bhernmal Lekhraj Chandiramai, 0 votes. Mr. Goolam Husein Kassim, 0 votes.

WARD No. 4—(3 seats).

Mr. Issardas Oodharam, 87 votes. Mr. Mulchand Kouramal Khilnani, 83 votes, Mr Wadhumal Oodharam, 73 votes, Mr Karsondas Premji Dharde 66 votes, Mr Mulchand Maghanmal 45 votes, Mr Ramchandra Persram Sindhe, 36 votes, Mr Goolam Husein Kassim, 0.

WARD No. 5—(5 seats).

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

There is no doubt that her suicide was the result of disappointment connected with her broken-off engagement to Herr Hans Bleichreder, of Berlin, where the Princess was well-known and popular. Her engagement became known publicly before she made it known to her relatives and this fact added to the family's indignation. The opposition however is not believed to have come from the Princess's father but from the Grand Duke of Saxe-Weimer who is the head of the family and on whom her father is to a certain extent dependent for his appanage. It was moreover impossible the Grand Duke is reported to have said that the princess of his house should marry a Jew however wealthy. An attempt was recently made at mediation by the well-known poet, Herr Richard Voss to persuade the Princess's father and the Court of Weimer to give their consent to the marriage, but it was unsuccessful. The Princess was a daughter of the younger line of the House of Saxe-Weimar, which sprung from the marriage of the Grand Duke Karl August, who died in 1828, and was celebrated as the friend of Goethe with Princess Louise Hesse-Darmstadt. It is said that Princess Sophia's father would have been willing to consent to the marriage with Herr Bleichroder, but the Grand Duke, as head of the family, insisted that in that case the Princess must renounce her rank and titles. This she refused to do, and many angry scenes are reported to have occured at the Heidelberg mansion between the father and daughter, Herr Hans Bleichroder, although a member of a Jewish family, had embraced Christianity.

A NEW GIBRALTAR.

GERMANY'S STRONGHOLD IN THE NORTH SEA.

Formerly a fishing island and holiday resort, Heligoland has become a Gibraltar of the North Sea, a great naval fortress on which the Germans have spent millions of marks. Thus, writes a correspondent of the Mail who states that he is visiting the isle after a two years' absence. The changes he characterises as astonishing.

When the works in progress are finished in two years the Kaiser (he remarks) will have a powerful base protecting the mouth of four rivers, including the Elbe and the Weser. It will also be the best point of support for his navy. Germany will never regret the exchange of Zanzibar for Heligoland with Great Britain in 1890.

A protecting sea wall has been built half round the island, and from the high "Oberland" the biggest and best Krupp guns on disappearing platforms command all approaches from the sea. A tunnel pierces the island from west to north, through which ammunition and other material may be safely taken. Huge searchlights discover every distant vessel at night, and there is a wireless station.

To the south of the lower part of the island (the "Unterland") a new island has arisen from the waters. It is half as big as Heligoland itself and has been built of materials brought from Germany. This new island provides shelter for torpedo-boats, destroyers, submarines, and small cruisers. There are now in harbour there 41 torpedo-boats and 12 submarines. Magazine and other depots and sheds for waterplanes and airships have been erected.

Six years ago the garrison was 100 strong. Now it is 1,200. Just now the German High Sea Fleet is assembled there for the manœuvres, during which Heligoland is to be attacked.

STANDARD BAROMETER READING.

The following information is put d in order that vessels in the Bo Harbour may, by comparison with a standard instrument, ascertain the errors of their barometers:—

The reading of the Standard Barometer at the Colaba Observatory corrected for index error and reduced to 80 deg. F, and to the level of the tide, at 8-45 a. m., (Standard Time) on the 4th October 1913, was 30·068 inches. For temperature corrections applicable to mercurial barometers of ships, the reading of the ship's barometer is to be increased or decreased by ·013 inch for every 5 deg., according as the temperature of the attached thermometer is respectively below or above 80 deg. F. In case of the Aneroid, no temperature correction is needed, but for comparison at 80 deg. F all aneroid readings should be increased by ·138 inch. For correcting the ship's barometers, either mercurial or aneroid, for the height of the barometer cistern above the tide level in the stream at 8-45 a.m., (Standard Time), the ship's barometers reading should be increased by ·010 inch for every 10 feet of this height, to make it comparable with the observatory bar meter reading given above.

EN PASSANT.

Vagaries in Railway administrative law are apparently not confined to India. A case is reported in one of the popular weekly journals where a gentleman took an excursion, or a weekend, ticket from London to Ramsgate. It was not convenient for him to return within the specified date; so he handed the unused half over to the 'skivy' who had given up her job, an act of generosity that cost him eventually over three pounds when hauled up for breaking a Railway bye-law. It is pointed out that a person is able to transfer the whole of a concession ticket to anyone he likes, but it is illegal to give away the half although the Railway company concerned may not be the loser, for in the case in question the mulcted individual was compelled to pay for an ordinary single ticket to convey him back to town. Few people know, may be that a week-end ticket, on the G.I. P. Ry. system at any rate, is absolutely valid only for the exact station named thereon. Should you dare to alight at a station nearer the starting place than the one mentioned the whole of the ticket can be confiscated, the result being that you would have to purchase a ticket at ordinary single fare to take you back home again. Let the point be illustrated. The system named issue week-end tickets to Sholapur, but not to Khurduwadi, an important junction some 50 miles nearer Bombay. Now it would be cheaper for a would-be traveller, provided his business or pleasure trip could be arranged for the week end, to pay, under this concession scale, for a ticket to Sholapur and alight at Khurdawadi, than avail of the ordinary return ticket to the latter named place. But the railway says "No you dont!" If you try it on you will assuredly be caught and, in all probability penalised, for you must present the return half at the time of restarting for home to be dated, and that process can only be done at the place named on the ticket. A more illogical rule could scarcely be quoted, while on the score of liberality it comes distinctly 'tardy off.' But perhaps the greatest defect in thoroughness of a principle obtains in the matter of concession for Voulunteers travelling on duty. These men, it may first be urged, are of those who give up their time to assist in the defensive schemes of the country. When they travel they invariably do so at their own expense. The Railway companies lay down that they can travel in the class next higher to that they pay for, but week-end tickets and ordinary return tickets are not to be included. Certainly it does not say so in the time-tables generally available to the public.—the inference is indeed in the contrary direction, but the unwritten law comes in evidence which seems to be that a concession cannot be attached to another concession. Out with the pencil again for a calculation. Supposing an Officer (volunteer for the sake of argument) finds he could arrange for a little Military duty in Bombay, or vice versa in Poona, during a week-end he would be compelled to take a double second class fare i. e. Rs. 11-2-0, to enable him to travel first class. But he could get a week-end first class ticket for Rs. 12-9-0, or an ordinary return for Rs. 18 odd less perhaps for a short date the saving in one case being too insignificant to worry about, and in the other not scarcely worth the trouble involved. Now a question like this is one the Government might take up with a strong hand for the sake of greater encouragement to volunteers. An admittance to the whole advantage would involve no outlay to a Railway company, but would be a great boon to the citizen soldier who might be more induced to visit neighbouring Corps for the sake of experience, or to foster that feeling of camaraderic so essential to the great cause.

Although it is possible that many Railway accidents in the near past have accounted for more fatalities the Aisgill disaster will stand out in more prominence than most others that have preceded it. At the moment it seems difficult to arrive at a cool judgement, for the first impressions distinctly point to lack of ordinary precaution that one would not expect from the eminently well-organised system of the Midland Railway. Two expresses are due along the line within ten or twelve minutes of each other. The first of these passes a signal box, contingent on the steeper part of a gradient, within a minute or two of the scheduled time of the second and in obvious difficulties. A few hundred yards further on this train comes to a dead stop. So far as present evidence points the signals were properly shewn at danger, but neither the driver or fireman of the second train noticed them as they, the story runs, were engaged in turning up the mechanism oiling &c for the pull up the hill beyond. Before the real danger was realised the second had gone beyond the possibility of a check necessary to avert an accident and dashed into the rear of the standing one. What would have been the result of the mere impact cannot definitely be conjectured but it seems certain that only a small proportion of the passengers in the coaches concerned would have been killed while rescue would have been assured in numerous other cases. But what would have been possible in hours of daylight was rendered fatally impracticable when the gas was ignited and the reading of witnesses, reports in this connection is one of the most ghastly records in history. The death knell of this system of lighting will probably have been sounded as a result of the present holocaust, not only at home but in our Indian railways, for electric lighting has now gone well beyond the stage of experiment, and there seems no reason why all classes of vehicles should not be fitted with installations of this illuminating element which in the case of collision could not, in the ordinary course of things, add to the danger and horror of the situation.

At a recent meeting of our "City fathers" it was suggested by one of the leading councillors that as the Municipality spent some four and a half lakhs yearly on the upkeep of roads barking and carping against the condition of the roads, though admittedly bad in some places, should be deprecated. Three important thoroughfares had been cited by another councillor as inferior to those of many small villages. The meeting was eventually asked to adopt a suggestion that the Commissioner be asked "to report on any special measures to be adopted in improving the condition complained of" &c &c the proverbially effete way of shelving an immediate responsibility. But one redeeming point is recorded viz: the suggestion of Col. Collie that the Councillors should attempt to attack the root of the evil by enforcing means of prevention in the future. It is conclusively opined that the rapid deprecation of the roads in Bombay is solely owing to bullock cart traffic, and in the greatest degree to the defect in the construction of these vehicles. To even the ordinary onlooker, gifted with a minimum of reflective genius, the consistency of the idea localising the first cause of the trouble is at once apparent, and he might wonder why a question of the kind has not been tackled with seriousness by the technical staff of the Corporation rather than be left to the chance of casual reference by non-technical members of the Municipality. Colonel Collie in recommending the enforcement of accurately fitting wheels, and more scientific tyring of these carts, suggests no great hardship to the bullock cart owner, nor is any expensive outlay, compared with the facilities of out-turn in the carting business of Bombay, involved by such improvements. The deplorable state referred to is practically confined to the thoroughfares of bullock carts, due, in turn, to the grinding process obtaining in the loose lateral movement of the wheel on the axle. Of the general build of the Bombay carts there can be no complaint, for they are immeasureably superior to vehicles of the type in any other part of India. Improvement therefore in the running mechanism might after all be only a small matter, but whether so, or even of greater moment, where the wear and tear of roads can be reduced to any important degree, there should be no hesitation on the part of the authorities to experiment in any direction that would ease the constant reproach that the main roads of an important City like Bombay are far below the standard.

A recent novel by Mr. Maxwell, which, as others have done from time to time, falls under the partial ban of the publishers; that is to say, although passed by the Censor, are not pushed forward into libraries, or extensively advertised though available if any body wishes to purchase them over the counter, is treated to a somewhat bland bit of criticism by the writer himself whose opinion is that his book will do neither good or harm to any man, woman or child who reads it. The title of the book "The Devil's Garden" is on the face of matters somewhat suggestive, and as the author admits that he deals with life, no fairyland, there has probably been a good number of enquires of, let us say, a naturally susceptible kind, which may compensate the financial requirement for the somewhat Gilbertian attitude which the Publishers affect in the deal. "Damnable expediency" as I have heard applied to other things in life is not it would appear absent where Literature, the great influencing factor of the age, is concerned, or to localise, but in another direction where the attempted advent of an English dancer sets both a non-official, and a red-tape element by the ears. Verily we live in an age of syoophancy and humbug!

LE TATILLON.

THE NAWAB OF PALANPUR.

(FROM A CORRESPONDENT.)

GONDAL, Sept. 30.

His Highness Sir Sher Mahmad Khan, G.C.I.E., the Nawab of Palanpur, arrived here by the morning train to-day. He was received at the station by H. H. the Thakor Saheb, his Dewan and principal officers of the State. On his alighting from his carriage a salute of 13 guns was fired, the guard of honour presented arms and the State band played a few bars. The road from the station to Kailasbag was watered and decorated. As the carraige of the Nawab Saheb passed, crowds of people gathered on the road to have a look at the Nawab and cheered him as he passed.

After a short halt at the Kailasbag Bungalow the Nawab Saheb with the Thakor Saheb drove in the town sight seeing. He saw the bazar, offices, hospital, orphanage, and asylum. He was struck with the cleanliness of all the public institutions. He seemed to take deep interest in the orphans and the inmates of the asylum. He was very pleased to see that the beautiful grand building of the Hindu style for the orphans and its upkeep were provided from the savings of Her Highness Nandkuvaba C. I. the Rani Saheb. He endowed these two institutions with a sum of Rs. 250 and gave a sweet dinner to the inmates. As the carriage crossed the river by the bridge he was much impressed with the beautiful sight of the waterfall from the bund of the river, the stately buildings of the Grasia College, the Monghiba Girls' High School, the public garden overhanging the river, the towers and turrets that were reflected in the river. This reminded him of the view of Poona from near the Bund gardens. He also saw on his way the Sagramji High School and the Art School. In the afternoon he lunched with His Highness the Thakor Saheb and the Royal family.

At 3-15 p. m. the Nawab Saheb was invited to preside at the prize distribution of the Islamia School. It was held in the beautiful marble hall of the Grasia College. He was received at the entrance by H. H. the Thakor Saheb and the principal Shets of the Mahomedan Community and taken to his seat on the dais. Her Highness the Rani Saheb Ba Shri Baknvarba and Ba Shri Leela Ba were also present. Kumar Shri Amravala of Thana Devli had also graced the hall by his presence. The report of the institution was then read which showed a very satisfactory progress made by the Mahomedan boys and girls in Arabic and in religious teaching. After a few songs and recitations by the boys and girls of the institution in Urdu the Nawab Saheb distributed the prizes.

The Nawab Saheb then expressed how gratified he was with what he saw and did in Gondal during his short visit. He said that he had heard much about the model administration of Gondal and its able ruler but this was the first opportunity he had of realising it all; that every institution he had the pleasure to see was marked by simplicity and honesty of purpose of the generous founder H. H. The Thakor Saheb of Gondal, that he was more pleased at being allowed to preside a the prize-distribution of an institution of the Mahomedan Community, that that community was backward in education and that Shet Yakub Abdul Guni the founder and supporter thereof deserved thanks for the keen interest he took in furthering the cause of Mahomedan education.

The Nawab Saheb then endowed the institution with e sum of Rs. 250.

Mr. R. V. Patwari, the Dewan of Gondal, thanked the Nawab Saheb on behalf of His Highness the Thakor Saheb for honouring Gondal by his presence but regreted that the Nawab Saheb could not stay longer.

Then a Mahomedan, Shet Haji Adamji, awarded five scholarships to the institution to commemorate the presence of the Nawab Saheb on this occasion. Shet Yakub Abdul Guni gave five more to the Madressa in honour of His Highness the Thakore Saheb and two more to the Girls, High School in honour of her Highness the Rani Saheb.

His Highness the Nawab Saheb then went out to see the common dining room and the dormitories and their arrangements for the Kumars of the Grasia College. The institution is conducted on the basis of what is known as a model school in England. H. H. the Nawab Saheb was very pleased with the site of the institution and the steady if slow progress it is making towards ameliorating the condition of the ignorant landlords.

After tea at the palace, the Nawab Saheb came to the station with H. H. the Thakore Saheb and his Dewan. The guard of honour and the State band were present. A salute of 13 guns was given when H. H. the Nawab Saheb left by the special train for Thana Devli.

COTTON AND SILK M...

INAUGURATION OE GOVERNMENT SCHOOL POONA.

Government having sanctioned the opening of a Primary School for the education of the children working in the Cotton and Silk Manufacturing Company's Mills at Poona, arrangements were made by the Deputy Educational Inspector of the Poona District to start it at the hands of the Hon'ble Mr. W. H. Sharp, M. A., Director of Public Instruction, Bombay Presidency. The ceremony took place on 3rd October on the premises of the Mills the Managers where of have kindly placed at the disposal of the Educational Department rooms for the accommodation of the school. The rooms and the Mandap specially erected for the purpose were beautifully decorated by the Managers of the Mills, the portrait of His Majesty the King Emperor nicely garlanded being placed in the most prominent position.

The guests, mill children and mill-hands having taken their seats, the proceedings were opened by Mr. G. B. Brahme, Deputy Educational Inspector, by explaining to the audience the purpose for which they had assembled there, and then he requested Mr. A. G. Wangikar to address the mill-hands on the aims and objects of Government in giving them a school. In the course of his address he informed the mill-hands that not only will the children attending the school receive education free of cost but that they will be provided with the necessary books, slates, etc. at Government expense.

The Hon'ble Mr. Sharp then spoke a few words of advice. He said that the Government of India wish that all boys and girls should be albe to read and write. But as many of the parents are poor, they cannot afford to dispense with what little their children can earn. Those children, however that work in mills and factories are allowed by law to work there only for six hours a day, and therefore they have ample leisure some of which they can best utilise in going to a school. He then explained the importance of reading, writing, and Arithmetic to human life. If a printed paper happens to fall in the hands of a man who cannot read, he holds it upside down and turns it like a monkey; it was then pointed out that there must be some difference between man and monkey. Writing, he said, was also equally indispensible. If a man were to be away from home, he can write to his wife and parents. The knowledge of Arithmetic is also necessary as it enables a man to keep himself from being cheated. I still therefore, the factory children were to attend the school and learn these subjects, they would make themselves more useful to themselves and to the mill-owners who would perhaps pay them better.

The Hon'ble Mr. Sharp's speech was interpreted in Marathi to the children and mill-hands by Mr. V. N. Ghate.

The Hon'ble Mr. Sharp and Mr. F. W. Marrs, Educational Inspector, Central Division were then garlanded by Mr. Chaturbhuja Balamukund, one of the Managers of the Mills.

After the distribution of flowers, pan supari and attar gulab to the guests an sweets to the children. Rao Bahadur Shet Ramnarayan Amarchand, Senior Manager of the Mills, proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Hon'ble Mr. Sharp, in the course of which he emphasized the importance of the education of mill children and expressed a hope that his Company would be ready to pay the children more if they become worthy of the favour by education.

Mr. Marrs seconded the vote of thanks proposed.

Mr. G. N. Khare, Principal, of Training College for Men, Poona, then proposed three cheers for His Majesty the King Emperor George V which were loudly responded to by the audience standing.

LADIES' CORNER.

WHAT WOMEN SPEND ON DRESS.

"How much does a Chicago woman spend every year for her clothes?"

Mme. Phair, the president, and other members of the Chicago Dressmakers' Club have supplied an estimate, and a contemporary has collated some rough London figures. Here they are compared:—

	Chicago. Per year.	London. Per year.
A few	...£15,000	...£5,000
About 100 social leaders...	10,000...	2,500
10,000 others	1,000 ...	1,000
Well-dressed club woman	300 ...	500
Average club woman ...	40 to 60 ...	300
Suffragist	100 ...	50
Church worker ...	100 ...15 to 50
Social worker	60 ...15 to 50
Stenographer	55 ...	20
Shop girl	50 ...	12
Factory girl	40 ...10 to 25

The question, "How much does a London woman spend on her clothes?" when put to the head of a great West End house only raised a smile.

Then he was shown the Chicago estimate, and the smile broadened.

"You don't expect us to beat Chicago?" he asked, but added, "Perhaps they mean dollars."

The newspaper man pressed for figures.

"I would like to ask Madame Phair how she arrived at her figures first."

There was some discussion as to why the "Church worker" should spend £40 a year more than the "social worker," and why the shop girl should only spend half as much as the Suffragist, but at last the above estimate was arrived at.

"These figures, or even the Chicago figures, can mean very little, and extravagance in dress is not a badge of social distinction in this country to-day."

"Is there any rough and ready rule applicable to the subject?"

"Only that a woman should probably spend on dress about a half of what she thinks reasonable."

Reports from Shanghai show that the extraordinary high prices for India opium there are still maintained.

THE FACE IS AN INDEX TO THE HEART but with a woman it is likewise an index to her internal organism, the healthy or diseased condition of which is at once betrayed in her facial expression. While the freshness of complexion, sparkle of the eye and light and lively movement go to denote a healthy condition, the sallow face, the dragging step and the look of pain and misery are evident signs of a disordered state. Any functional disorder will promptly yield to UTRODINE the most harmless vegetable tonic and sedative for the organic diseases of women. Of all Chemists in India.

RADIO-ACTIVITY OF THE ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC

An Argentine scientist has made a series of fifty measurements of the radio-activity of the oceans, fifteen in the Atlantic, south, of Montevideo four in the Magellon Straits, and thirty-one in the Pacific, south of Callao. The radium emanation value, expressed in Mache units, was 0·14 for the Atlantic ocean; 0·09 for the Straits, and 0·08 for the Pacific.

WIRELESS AND WEATHER.

Writing in a recent number of the Electrical World, A. H. Taylor tells of his investigation of the effect of weather on the transmissivity of wireless telegaph signals. He has found that transmission is in almost every case particularly favorable when cloudy weather prevails between the communicating stations. When the area is only partly cloudy he is inclined to think that transmissivity is better when the sun is shining upon the receiving station and its neighbourhood rather than the vicinity of the transmitting station. But in such case the transmissivity is not so good as when the cloudy area includes both receiving and transmitting stations.

GAS IN THE CAVITIES OF TREES.

Prof. J. A. Ferguson, of the Pennsylvania State College, reports a curious phenomenon connected with the cutting of hardwood trees in the Ozark Mountains. Cavities near the base of the trees are often found to contain gas. When these cavities are cut into by the oak tie cutters of the region the gas escapes with a whistling sound, showing it to be under pressure, and if lighted it will burn with a faint yellow flame. The sides of the cavities containing gas are in all cases darkened and look as though seared with a hot iron. The popular belief of the district is that these trees are connected through their roots with a subterranean supply of natural gas, and the land on which they grow is valued accordingly. An examination of the gas collected from a cottonwood tree was made by Prof. Bushong, of the University of Kansas and it was found to be substantially the same as natural gas with the addition of some free hydrogen. Prof Ferguson believes, however, that this gas is the product of decomposition of the heartwood of the trees.

STUDYING TAAL VOLCANO.

With the aid of a special appropriation of $9,000 from the colonial legislature, the Philipine Weather Bureau has established a seismological station on the shore of Lake Bombon or Taal, about five miles from the volcano that caused so much destruction in January, 1911. The building, which is of reinforced concrete, is situated about twenty feet above the level of the water, and thus commands a view of the lake and the volcano (the latter being on an island in the middle of the lake.) The location is near the ridge of a fault which radiates from the volcano in a nearly southwest-northeast direction, and so is expected to be very favorable for registering the slightest shocks having their origin in the volcano. The practical purpose of the institution is to obtain timely warning of any impending eruption and warn the inhabitants of the district. The station is equipped with meteorological instruments, a Vicentini microseismograph, and an Agamennone seismograph; also with a Friez, water stage register, a set of undetground thermometers, for use on the island of the volcano, and two small deep-sea sounding thermometers for locating some of the subterranean steam vents that are supposed to exist around the volcano. A fine motor launch completes the equipment.

EUROPEAN WILD SHEEP.

The long-expected contingent of the wild sheep of Sardinia, known as Mouflon have arrived at the London Zoo. These animals are a gift from the Duke of Bedford, and make a valuable addition to the society's collection. Next year they will probably be exhibited on one of the hills of the Mappin Terraces, where they should make a brave show. The Mouflon is the only species of wild sheep now surviving in Europe. The rest inhabit the mountains of Asia and North America. In Europe it is restricted to Sardinia and Corsica; but in Corsica it has been so mixed with domesticated breeds that it is doubtful if pure breed examples are now to be found there. One of the interesting points about this animal is the claim it has to be regarded as the original stock of domesticated breeds. This claim, however, cannot be regarded as substantiated until it is shown how domestic sheep acquired their long tail, this appendage being quite short in the Mouflon, as in all wild species of sheep.

SLOTHS.

Sloths are admittedly slow movers. They have no occasion to be otherwise, since they live at the tops of trees, out of reach of terrestrial prowlers, and only liable to be preyed upon by arboreal marauders, like boaconstrictors, and by aerial butchers, like harpy eagles. But against their foes Nature has endowed them with a means of protection as efficacious as agility—namely, its antithesis equiescence, coupled with obliterative colouration, due in part to a cause no other quadruped has succeeded in attaining. For an animal so defenceless and inactive as the sloth, harmony in colour and form with its surroundings is imperative. To achieve this end, the hair has acquired certain properties which make it a suitable medium for the growth and multiplication of a species of minute fungus or mould of a kind that covers luxuriantly the bark of the forest trees in which it dwells, so that, when ...ing from a branch, the creature looks ...

MR. CHURCHILL'S RIDE TO BALMORAL.

The "Glasgow Herald" states that when Mr. Churchill arrived at Perth on his way to Balmoral he leapt upon the platform in great excitement, and called loudly for the motor-car which had been ordered to take him by Spittal of Glenshee to Balmoral. But the car could not be found.

There was much commotion and running about by flurried porters, but Mr. Churchill, who was afraid he would be late for his important duties, could not await the result of the search.

"I must be off," he exclaimed. "I have to be in attendance on the King at 7·30 to-night," and ordering his valet to throw his luggage into a taxicab near at hand he jumped in. "Where to sir?" asked the driver. "Balmoral," replied Mr. Churchill. "Right, sir," exclaimed the astonished driver, and the car sped out of the station. Fast travelling just enabled Mr. Churchill to cover the sixty miles and keep his appointment.

The car originally ordered for Mr. Churchill was waiting on the other side of the station, and a amusing feature of the incident was that an cinematograph operator was standing by ready to record that part of the First Lord's journey to Balmoral.

WHERE WOULD YOU HIDE PEARLS.

Where would you have hidden the pearls! asks a "Daily Chronicle" carrespondent. Personally, I should have carried my booty to the reading room of the British Museum. From the open shelves I should take various volumes of the least-sought-after sort. I should busy myself with these until closing time. And when I returned the books I should slip the matchbox behind one of them at the back of the shelf.

I know a man who thus made the reading room his safe depository. He was paid some £6 odd on Saturday afternoon and feared to trust his Bohemian instincts with so much money over the week-end. So he slipped the £5 note in a book on the open shelves in the British Museum just before closing time, spent a quiet and unforcedly economic Saturday night and Sunday, and entered the reading room at 9 a. m. on Monday to find the fiver where he put it at p. 273 of the Victorian County History of Cumberland.

ETHICS.

The scene was a Liverpool cafe (says the "Manchester Guardian"), and the pearl necklace robbery was under discussion at a table surrounded by four cigarette-smoking youths of native origin.

The theory that the sugar cubes found in the pilfered box had been abstracted from a cafe table in Paris was referred to, and one speaker expressed his belief, on the authority of a newspaper, that "pinching sugar" was a common custom among Parisians.

Its wrongfulness was judged with some degree of severity, and it was unanimously agreed that "anyhow" it was "bad form." Coffee cups were drained, cigarette stumps dropped into the saucers, and checks collected.

Then the speaker who had first drawn the discussion to the sugar question half rose from his seat and reached over to the matchstand whence he took perhaps a dozen matches and transferred them to his pocket. The others did the same, till the stand was left empty.

No moral.

OLD CADDIE'S CAUSTIC RETORT.

He is an old caddie on an East Coast course, and, being a noted figure on the links, he endeavours as far as possible to caddie only for thoroughly efficient golfers. Occasionally, however, he finds himself accompanying a "foozler," and on these occasions his dignity is injured.

One day last week he found himself caddying to an old gentleman who was out, clearly, more for exercise than for the love of the game, and who was playing shocking golf.

By the time the twelfth hole was reached he had been in most of the bunkers en route and had succeeded in breaking a club. "I think I shall give up at this hole," he remarked at last to his indignant caddie. "Na, na," retorted the old worthy, bitterly, "feenish the course, Sir, feenish the course; ye've got other four clubs to smash yet, an' nine bunkers to dae it in?"—"Glasgow News."

CHILD'S HYMN.

It was customary for the children to choose in turn the hymn which invariably concluded family prayers (says the "Manchester Guardian"), but on this occasion rights were gracefully waived in favour of the little cousin just arrived on his first visit to the household.

The selection was duly made, but during the first verse clouds began to gather on his brow, and he looked angrily round the circle of singers. Then, climbing down from his chair, he made his way to the nearest small cousin and whispered with concentrated bitterness into her astonished ear, "If you sing my hymn I shall sing yours."

He evidently thought it was to have been a solo performance.

A Natural Remedy

Time was when disease was thought to be due to the direct influence of evil spirits, and exorcism and magic were invoked to cast it out.

Science has taught us wisdom. The evil spirits exist still. We call them "Disease Germs," and they also must be cast out. Once lodged in the stomach or intestines, fever with its hallucinations, or biliousness with its aches and pains, is the result.

ENO'S FRUIT SALT

is the approved remedy for driving out disease germs. Its action is quick and thorough. It clears the intestines, rouses the torpid liver to new life, stimulates the mucous membrane to a healthy action, and cleanses and invigorates the whole digestive tract.

It may be safely taken at any time by young or old.

It is very effective in the early stage of Diarrhœa by removing the irritating cause.

Be prepared for emergencies by always keeping a bottle in the house.

Prepared only by

A Celebrated Violiniste.

Nervous Fatigue, Headaches, Languor—

The power to excel, the confidence which ensures her brilliant successes, says the talented violinist, Miss Sybil Keymer, is entirely due to her abundance of vigorous nerve force created by Phosferine. How greatly the numerous distinctions and triumphant career of this accomplished musician are promoted by the brain energy and physical stamina developed by Phosferine, is evident from Miss Keymer's admission that the tonic "enabled me to do myself justice." This power to excel, this ability to make perfect use of her skill, depends upon the marvellous control and steadiness of the muscle nerves Phosferine has given her, and to which she owes the entrancing tone and quality of her musical renditions. Naturally, this energising effect of Phosferine was accompanied by the disappearance of the headaches, listlessness, and fatigue, which were the bane of her public appearances, and it is this happy outcome which impels Miss Keymer to testify to the exceptional advantages to be derived from Phosferine.

Promptly Remedied.

Miss Sybil Keymer, "Riversmere," Albany Rd., Leighton Buzzard, Eng., writes: "I think I should inform you that I have recently derived very great benefit from the use of Phosferine. In the course of my profession I have to travel a good deal in getting to my various concerts, and I find that since using Phosferine I am never troubled with the headaches and listlessness which follow a long railway journey, particularly during hot weather. This is of very great importance to me, as frequently only a very little time elapses between reaching my destination and the commencement of a concert, and it is such a relief to feel fresh and ready for playing in public undisturbed by the fatigues of long travelling. It is because I feel that Phosferine enables me to do myself justice as a violinist, preventing any of the unsteadiness of the muscle nerves, which is so harmful to tone and quality, that I confidently commend the tonic at every opportunity."—July 11, 1912.

DR. DE JONGH'S

KNIGHT OF THE ORDER OF LEOPOLD OF BELGIUM
KNIGHT OF THE LEGION OF HONOUR

LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL

THE PUREST. THE MOST PALATABLE. THE MOST DIGESTIBLE. THE MOST EFFICACIOUS.

Incontestably proved by Forty Years' Medical Experience to be The only Cod Liver Oil which produces the full curative effects in CONSUMPTION AND DISEASES OF THE CHEST, THROAT AFFECTIONS, GENERAL DEBILITY, DISEASES OF THE SKIN, WASTING DISEASES OF CHILDREN, RICKETS, AND ALL SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

SELECT MEDICAL OPINIONS.

SIR G. DUNCAN GIBB, Bart., M.D.,
Physician to the Westminster Hospital.

"The value of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL as a therapeutic agent in a number of diseases, chiefly of an exhaustive character, has been admitted by the world of medicine; but, in addition, I have found it a remedy of great power in the treatment of many Affections of the Throat and Larynx, especially in Consumption of the latter, where it will sustain life when everything else fails."

DR. SINCLAIR COGHILL,
Physician to the Royal National Hospital for Consumption, Ventnor.

"I have convinced myself that in Tubercular and the various forms of Strumous Disease, Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL possesses greater therapeutic efficacy than any other Cod Liver Oil with which I am acquainted. It was especially noted in a large number of cases in which the patients protested they had never been able to retain or digest other Cod Liver Oil, that DR. DE JONGH'S OIL was not only tolerated, but taken readily, and with marked benefit."

JOSEPH J. POPE Esq., M.R.C.S.,
Late Staff Surgeon, Army, Professor of Hygiene, Birkbeck Institution, London.

"I found during my Indian experience that the worth and character of DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL remained unchanged by tropical heat or foreign climate, and it was, from its uniformity of character, particularly adapted for long-continued administration. The value of 'hydro-carbons' in all debilitated states of the system is now becoming thoroughly recognized; and it is, without doubt, from the animal oils, and fats, rather than from their vegetable substitutes, that we may hope to derive the surest benefit. The Oil of DR. DE JONGH places in everyone's reach a reliable and valuable remedy, one that cannot be too widely recognized."

DR. R. C. CROFT,
Author of "Handbook for the Nursery."

"DR. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is almost a specific in many of the Diseases peculiar to Infancy and Childhood, and I have seen marked benefit produced by its use. Patients prefer it to the Pale Oils, and are able to retain it more comfortably."

Dr. DE JONGH'S LIGHT-BROWN COD LIVER OIL is Supplied ONLY in IMPERIAL Half-Pints, Pints and Quarts, sealed with BETTS' Patent Capsule impressed on the top with DR. DE JONGH'S Stamp, and on the side with his Signature, and the Signature of ANSAR, HARFORD & Co.; and bearing under the wrapper a Label with the same Stamp and Signatures.

VETARZO BRAIN AND NERVE FOOD

This remarkable compound, the latest discovery of modern times for all phases of brain and nerve wreckage and exhaustion, sleeplessness, tremblings, palpitation, nervous dyspepsia, low spirits, mental and bodily prostration, muscular and local weakness, general and nervous debility, faulty nutrition, premature decay or deficiency of the vital forces, impaired vitality, harassing dreams, night disturbances, sudden startings, dimness of sight, defective hearing, loss of memory, inability to perform the various duties of life, or to enjoy its pleasures, restlessness that can settle to nothing, irritability of temper, female complaints, hysteria, painful periods, backache, bearing down sensations, nervous headache, wasting disease, night sweats, &c., whether induced by worry, overwork, unhealthy climate, dissipation, excesses, or other influences incidental to the wear and tear and haste or overstrain of modern life. Bracing up the system generally, it gives tone to the exhausted nerves, arrests all weakening wasting discharges, restores the failing energies, and imparts new life and vigour to those who had so recently seemed played out, "used up," and valueless

VETARZO BLOOD MEDICINE

Never before was there anything like it, nor can its marvellous properties ever be equalled in all cases of poorness, impurity, or other imperfection of the blood from whatever cause arising. No sooner is it imbibed into the system than it permeates and penetrates to the minutest capillaries, overcoming and expelling the virus of disease, wheresoever and in whatsoever form met with; removing all blotches, pimples, scurf, scurvy, scrofulous and glandular swellings, discolorations, roughness and unsightly patches, &c. Its effects are almost magical in the treatment of gout, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, pains and swellings of the joints, discharges, blood poison, secondary symptoms, eczema, lepra, psoriasis, bad legs, bad breasts, abscesses, ulcers, wounds, sores, goitre or Derbyshire neck; it improves the general health, and quickly removes long-standing bronchitis, asthma, and hacking, straining, spasmodic cough, too often the precursor of consumption.

CAUTION.—Ask for "VETARZO Brain and Nerve Food," or "VETARZO Blood Medicine," whichever is required, and see that you get them, as unprincipled vendors often try to palm off inferior preparations (usually their own manufacture), for the sake of extra profit. Price in England, 2/9. Every genuine bottle of these medicines bears the British Government Stamp with the words "VETARZO REMEDIES" impressed thereon, in white letters on a red ground. Registered Trade Mark, "VETARZO."

IF YOU ARE SUFFERING from any such disease as ECZEMA, SCROFULA, BAD LEGS, ABSCESSES, ULCERS, GLANDULAR SWELLINGS, BOILS, PIMPLES, SORES OF ANY KIND, PILES, BLOOD POISON, RHEUMATISM, GOUT, etc., don't waste your time and money on useless lotions and messy ointments which cannot get below the surface of the skin. What you want and what you must have to be permanently cured is a medicine that will thoroughly free the blood of the poisonous matter which alone is the true cause of all your suffering.

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE.

THE WORLD FAMED BLOOD PURIFIER

is just such a medicine. It is composed of ingredients which quickly attack, overcome, and expel from the blood all impurities from whatever cause arising, and by rendering it clean and pure can be relied on to effect a complete and lasting cure.

Here is good proof of its efficacy :—

POISONED FOOT CURED

"Some time ago I had an accident to my left foot (ran a nail into it), it festered, and got so bad that the doctor was called in and said I had poisoned it. For 3 years I was under different doctors and for one year of the three I only went out in a bath chair. Not only during that time did I entirely lose the little toe of my left foot, but a gaping wound came in the inside of the same foot. It was so bad that when I bathed it I fancied I could see the bones. At last I decided to try 'Clarke's Blood Mixture,' and with the end of the second small bottle the discharge had stopped, and within a month I could get my foot to the ground. It is as well now as it ever was, of course, very scarred and a toe short, but I am sure I should have been a foot short had it gone on."

"WORTH £5 A DOSE"

"I also recommended it to a Surgeant's wife at Aldershot, whose husband had an open sore for seven years, the result of a sword thrust in Burma. She said she couldn't get him to try it for a long time, but at last he did, and the wound has completely healed. She told me that often after a long march he has writhed in agony and often fainted. When they were leaving to go to another station he came on purpose to say good-bye and thank me. He said he'd never forget me for being the cause of his trying it, and that it was worth £5 a dose.—Yours truly, (Mrs.) M. Cousins, 187 Twyford avenue, Portsmouth," England.
